Gen. Lo Jabs At Kennedy, Stevenson

Declares America Is "Meddling" And "Playing With Fire"

TOKYO (UPI) — A top-ranking Chinese Communist general Friday warned the United States would face "ignominous defeat" if it persisted in "playing with fire" in Southeast Asia, the official Communist New China news agency reported.

The Chinese Communists — by agency dispatches and radio broadcasts — also assailed the United States for blocking Peiping's admission to the United Nations. The world organization was scored for "meddling" in China's internal affairs.

Also a few sharp words were flung at the Soviet Union over Albania and world disarmament.

The warning to the United States was sounded by Senior Gen. Lo Jui-ching, chief of the general staff of the Chinese Communist army, at a reception given by the military attache of the North Viet Nam Embassy in Peiing, the New China agency said.

Keep Close Watch

Lo said the Chinese people are "keeping a close watch on the provocative and adventurous deeds of U.S. imperialism and its lackeys" in Southeast Asia.

"We seriously warn the U. S. imperialists: If you do not stop playing with fire, you will definitely meet with an ignominious defeat," the general was quoted as saying.

Lo denounced President Kennedy for increasing U.S. military assistance to the South Viet Nam government in the struggle against the Communist Rebels.

U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations Adlai E. Stevenson was the target of an attack in the Peiping People's Daily, the official newspaper of the Chinese Communist party. In an editorial, the newspaper denounced the "persistent hostility" of the United States toward China and said the "Chinese Communist party. In an editorial, the newspaper denounced the "persistent hostility" of the United States toward China and said the "Chinese people cannot be cowed by the 'majority' created by the U.S. voting machine" in the United Nations.

Refers To Speech

It referred specifically to Stevenson's speech to the assembly and said:

President Home From Bermuda; Goes To Bedside Of His Father

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy returned to the United States Friday and to the side of his father who now reportedly will survive a stroke but is given scant chance for full recovery.

The chief executive returned at 6:20 p.m. from Bermuda and a two-day conference with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

He was met at the West Palm Beach Airport by the First Lady and they left at once for the hospital where his father has been under treatment since last Tuesday for the after-effects of a stroke.

They had no comment for newsmen at the hospital.

Kennedy reached this Florida resort city a few hours after a medical authority had told newsmen doctors no longer fear the elder Kennedy will not survive the attack. But this source added that there appears to be slight chance for full recovery from the partial paralysis by the stroke.

It was the first authoritative word that President Kennedy's 73-year-old father is believed no longer in danger of immediate death. But it also was the first acknowledgement that the former ambassador to Great Britain is unlikely to recover fully.

The source—who declined to be identified but is very close to the case—gave newsmen his good-bad summing up after a day which had brought generally encouraging word from both doctors and bedside visitors. There was even one report Kennedy had spoken a few words.

The medical authority explained that Kennedy suffered paralysis of the right side when a blood clot struck his brain while he was on a golf course last Tuesday morning.

The source said Kennedy can recognize friends, manages to smile at visitors and attempts speech but cannot articulate clearly.

He explained that the longer the paralysis persists, the smaller chance there is for full recovery and that if there is to be full recovery it usually is well under way within 24 to 48 hours after the attack.

Thus, he said, since it is now more than 72 hours since Kennedy was stricken there can be little hope that he will regain any more than partial use of his right arm and leg. Chances for recovery of fully normal speech also are limited, he added.

The hospital at 6 p.m., EST, issued a bulletin saying there had been somewhat of an improvement in Kennedy's condition since Thursday. No details were given.

Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston brought word that Kennedy had spoken—perhaps for the first time since Tuesday.

The cardinal told newsmen Kennedy smiled and plainly recognized him when the Roman Catholic prelate made a bedside visit.

"Your're going to be all right," the cardinal told Kennedy.

"I know I am," he quoted Kennedy as having replied.

Cardinal Cushing asked the pa-

Zorin Pledges Opposition To UN Programs

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The Soviet Union pledged Friday that as long as it can wield its big power veto it will never permit the United Nations to help a colonial power hang on to dependent territories.

Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin made clear that his pledge included cases where force was used such as in the Indian seizure of Portuguese India this week.

In a wide-ranging news conference, the Soviet delegate declared:

"The basic problem is to assist in the liberation of colonial peoples and not to resist it. That is why we consider that India acted in the right way."

Zorin made these additional assertions:

1. The United States, in arranging the Kitona meeting between Katanga President Moise Tshombe and Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula, interfered in the internal affairs of the Congo. The purpose, he said, was to save Tshombe.

2. The United Nations is in good health, despite statements by U.S. Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson that the organization was badly shaken by the Security Council's failure to order a cease-fire in the Indian invasion of Goa, Damao and Diu.

3. The Soviet Union stands by its troika plan for a three-man executive to replace the U.N. secretary-general, but whether it will press the plan in 1963 depends on how Acting Secretary-General U Thant carries out his job.

4. The Soviet Union will refuse to buy any of the $200 million in bonds which the United Nations will issue to stave off bankruptcy. It also will refuse to pay any U.N. budget assessments to retire the bonds. The Soviets ay the bond issue is illegal.

Two Surprise Snow Storms Hit Prairies

By United Press International

Two surprise snow storms whipped up blizzard conditions, trapped school children in their classrooms and bogged holiday travel across the plains and prairies Friday on the first full day of winter.

One raging storm broke out in the Central Plains, lashed Kansas City shopping crowds with traffic - snarling snows, piled 10 inches of snow on southwestern Iowa and forced school buses off the roads in sections of Missouri, Iowa and Kansas.

To the north, a Canadian Prairie blizzard lashed south of the border, closed scores of schools in North Dakota and swept eastward across the state riding 60 mile an hour winds and carrying bone - chilling, sub - zero temperatures.

Adenauer Pledges Support To West

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said Friday that West Germany must and will work most closely with the rest of the free world in the period ahead.

The 85-year-old chancellor laid that down as the policy of the new coalition government in a foreword to the regular report on the nation published at the end of each year.

"The more that we strengthen the general forces of the free world through our efforts," Adenauer said, "the more we will help prevent a general war from befalling humanity."

JFK-Macmillan In Agreement On Policies

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Macmillan agreed Friday that the United States will make the first new approach to the Soviet Union on Berlin and that preparations should be made for resuming nuclear tests in the atmosphere.

After this windup to their two-day summit meeting, Kennedy wished Bermudians a Merry Christmas and took off for Palm Beach, Fla., to revisit his ailing father.

The agreements on Berlin and renewed atmospheric nuclear tests, plus statements on the Congo, disarmament and the European Common Market featured a 600-word communique on the two leaders' private discussions at Government House.

The talks were conducted in a relaxed atmosphere. Aides said Kennedy and Macmillan found no sharp disagreement between them and much unanimity in reviewing global issues.

On Berlin, where the United States and Britain have the go-ahead from their allies to sound out the Soviet Union on whether negotiations are possible, the two men agreed the U.S. ambassador to Moscow should make the first try.

Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson is scheduled to get instructions from Washington within a week or so to ascertain at the Soviet Foreign Office if — as the communique put it — "a reasonable basis for negotiation can be found."

Macmillan promised that the British ambassador to Moscow, Frank Roberts, would follow through after Thompson whenever this would be helpful.

Kennedy and Macmillan figured that France's President Charles de Gaulle, who doesn't favor negotiations with the Reds on Berlin at this time, can be approached after the two ambassadors dis-

Auto Output Highest In Decade

DETROIT (UPI) — December auto production will total 625,000 units, highest on record for the month since 1955, Ward's Automotive Reports said Friday.

Fourth-quarter output of 1,8-000 cars is 5.1 per cent more than last year and will be topped only by the 1,949,000 turned out in the final three months of 1955, the statistical agency said.

Output for the week ending Friday was estimated at 147,545 cars, a 10.7 per cent decline from the year's high of 165,219 last week but 28.4 per cent above the 114,941 cars made a year ago. Many plants closed at noon for the Christmas holiday.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Was the Navy band lending itself to a political campaign when it played "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You" at the departure ceremony for former Navy Secretary John B. Connally?

Connally went home to Fort Worth, Texas, Wednesday to run for governor.

United Congo Hopes Suffer Major Setback

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congo reunification hopes suffered a major setback Friday when the Katanga Cabinet declined to approve President Moise Tshombe's agreement ending the secession of his battle-scarred province.

The Cabinet claimed it lacked authority to pass on the agreement and that it will have to be submitted to the Provincial Assembly.

Observers in the U.N.-controlled Katanga capital, Elisabethville, said the action may be the initial step leading to rejection of the unity pact signed Thursday by Tshombe and Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula.

In Leopoldville, Adoula warned that unless the agreement is honored by next Wednesday, his central government will take measures to force compliance. He did not elaborate.

Tshombe insists the signed declaration recognizing central government authority is subject to ratification by his government and that such a process will take at least 10 days — that is, until New Year's Eve.

Four tribal leaders messaged U.N. headquarters here reporting white officers led the native troops in raids against Baluba and other elements Thursday in and around the Elisabethville township of Kenya. The killing was described as indiscriminate.

The tribal leaders demanded punitive action against the gendarmes and said they were calling on Adoula to send in Congolese troops.

11,000 Allied Troops On Duty Over Holidays

BERLIN (AP)—West Berliners' efforts to brighten Christmas with lighted trees along the city's Red wall were attacked by the Communists Friday as a cold war maneuver.

"The Christmas trees don't serve peace at all," declared East German Deputy Foreign Minister Otto Winzer, referring to more than 800 huge trees lighed each dusk along the Western side of the wall splitting the city. "They serve the cold war."

Countless families are separated by the wall of barbed wire, concrete and steel which the Communists raised last August, physically splitting the city that was politically divided after World War II.

So there will be many heavy hearts and empty chairs at family reunions in Berlin this year.

Efforts to arrange special visits between East and West Berlin—just for Christmas—broke down after the Communists tied the question to their desire for recognition of the East German regime by the West.

Some parents, children, aunts, uncles, grandmothers and cousins will walk to the barriers in hope of waving to each other. Others will just gaze at the 800 lighted Christmas trees sent from all over Western Europe for placing along the wall. The weather is expected to match the mood—cold and gray, with no snow.

War Clouds Hanging Over New Guinea

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Indonesian air force held war games along the sea borders of disputed West New Guinea Friday as President Sukarno again demanded that the Dutch hand over the territory.

The air force intelligence chief, Lt. Col. Soedharmono, said warplanes have been conducting extensive exercises along the borders following Sukarno's command to the armed forces last Tuesday to prepare to seize West New Guinea "at any time from now on."

Dutch warplanes also are maneuvering in the area, the Indonesian officer said. He warned that an incident could occur. He said Indonesia plans to expand a controlled area over the Moluccas Islands already closed to air traffic. The Moluccas extend eastward to within about 50 miles of New Guinea. Indonesian commercial flights have been expanded and intensified to East Indonesia at the same time.

Sukarno, addressing a meeting of mothers in Jakarta, again rejected the Dutch idea of self-determination as a solution for the Dutch-ruled region.

"I call on the whole world not to bother trying to get us talking about self-determination for West Irian (West New Guinea)," Sukarno said. "We definitely reject that sort of self-determination."

He urged the mothers to be ready t allow their sons and daughters to join military training centers soon.

In Hollandia, the capital of West New Guinea, the Dutch governor announced that the food supply was sufficient for a number of months but that measures have been taken for eventual rationing. Ration cards already have been printed. The Red Cross plans setting up emergency hospitals.

Six Texans Seek Rayburn's Post At Polls Today

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — Six candidates, split into two dissimilar camps, bid Saturday for the House post held 48 years by the late Sam Rayburn.

The field shows two conservatives—one a Democrat and the other a Republican — aligned against four who call themselves "Sam Rayburn Democrats."

Since no candidate possessed a platform radically different from some other contender, political observers believe no man will gain a clear majority over all others.

In that event a runoff between the two top men will be necessary before Feb. 12 by state law.

Over Two Million Hear Billy Graham

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — More than 2 million persons attended the four Billy Graham crusades this year, the Billy Graham evangelistic association said Friday.

The crusades were held in Great Britain, Florida, Philadelphia and the Minnesota State Fairgrounds at St. Paul.

The association said 62,758 persons came forward to make "decisions for Christ" at the crusades.

The 1962 schedule will include Graham crusades in Venezuela, Peru, Ecuador, Colombia, and Chile from Jan. 14 to Feb. 17, and in Argentina, Paraguay, Uruguay and Brazil in the fall.

Crusades also will be held in Chicago May 30 to July 1 and Fresno, Calif., July 15 to 22, it was announced.

Stock Exchange Reorganization Plan Gets Okay

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Stock Exchange's plans to put its house in order drew quick approval Friday from the Wall Street business and financial community.

A committee of ASE members Thursday recommended reorganization of the nation's No. 2 securities market.

The result of their proposals would be to strengthen and centralize the exchange's administration.

The group acted swiftly in the wake of the resignation of exchange President Edward T. McCormick. General opinion was that the market's own investigators wanted to accomplish reforms in advance of conclusion of a Securities and Exchange Commission inquiry.

The committee recommended an immediate "fundamental revision of the organization and administration of the exchange and its administrative machinery."

It proposed revision of the manner in which the 27 governors are chosen; elimination of the nine standing committees; creation of a steering committee of governors, and quick selection of a new president.

U.S. Again Seeks Restrictions On GE Price Fixing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department, saying the General Electric Co. has been a persistent antitrust law violator, Friday asked for court orders forbidding the firm from fixing prices in every field of its operations.

The department, announcing the filing of a suit in federal court in Philadelphia, said it was an action expanding a case filed Feb. 16, 1960.

The original case asked for prohibitive orders covering 18 heavy electrical equipment fields. The new action asked the court to include everything General Electric makes, ranging from light bulbs to washing machines.

Holiday Travelers Crowd Planes, Trains, Highways

By United Press International

A deluge of Merry Christmas travelers struck the nation's highways Friday and hit a pre-holiday crest on thronged planes, trains and buses.

The annual home-for-Christmas push was made hazardous by a blustery snow storm in the Midwest, icy roads over much of the country and the outpouring of tipsy drivers from Friday afternoon office parties.

Furloughing servicemen — their numbers boosted this year by the Berline crisis callup — added to the crush of holiday motorists and travelers on the bulging commercial transport system.

The Nation Safety Council estimated that 500 persons would die in traffic accidents during the three - day Christmas weekend. Scores of others were expected to perish in fires.

The council said 23,000 persons might suffer disabling injuries in mishaps that would erase the joy of the ohlidays.

Safety officials throughout the nation warned against too much speed and too much alcohol as the big culprits in the shocking death tolls of previous holiday seasons.

The most tragic 78-hour Christmas weekend in history was the "black Christmas" of 1955 when 621 persons died on the highways. In last year's 78 - hour holiday period, 485 persons died in traffic.

HOLIDAY DEATHS

At 6 o'clock last evening, the Associated Press began its nation-wide hourly log of deaths in traffic accidents, fires and from miscellaneous causes over the Christmas holiday weekend.

At midnight the count was Traffic 19. Fires 0. Miscellaneous 2. Total 21.

November Prices Decline As Workers Pay Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department reported Friday a record rise in factory worker earnings in November coupled with a small decline in consumer prices.

The government's living-cost index declined by one-tenth of one per cent to 128.3 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This is only seven-tenths of one per cent above November 1960, smallest November-to-November increase since 1955.

The 128.3 figure for November means it took $1.28-plus to buy what $1 would purchase in the 1947-49 base period.

Both the spendable earnings and buying power of factory workers reached new highs. Spendable earnings is the amount left in pay envelops after federal income and Social Security taxes are deducted.

For the average factory worker heading a family of four, the weekly spendable earnings figure rose by $1 from October to $85.03 in November. This was attributed to more working time and higher hourly pay rates.

Since price levels have remained steady, practically the full amount of the increased earnings has been reflected in greater worker buying power.

War Clouds Hanging Over New Guinea

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Indonesian air force held war games along the sea borders of disputed West New Guinea Friday as President Sukarno again demanded that the Dutch hand over the territory.

The air force intelligence chief, Lt. Col. Soedharmono, said warplanes have been conducting extensive exercises along the borders following Sukarno's command to the armed forces last Tuesday to prepare to seize West New Guinea "at any time from now on."

Dutch warplanes also are maneuvering in the area, the Indonesian officer said. He warned that an incident could occur. He said Indonesia plans to expand a controlled area over the Moluccas Islands already closed to air traffic. The Moluccas extend eastward to within about 50 miles of New Guinea. Indonesian commercial flights have been expanded and intensified to East Indonesia at the same time.

Sukarno, addressing a meeting of mothers in Jakarta, again rejected the Dutch idea of self-determination as a solution for the Dutch-ruled region.

"I call on the whole world not to bother trying to get us talking about self-determination for West Irian (West New Guinea)," Sukarno said. "We definitely reject that sort of self-determination."

He urged the mothers to be ready t allow their sons and daughters to join military training centers soon.

In Hollandia, the capital of West New Guinea, the Dutch governor announced that the food supply was sufficient for a number of months but that measures have been taken for eventual rationing. Ration cards already have been printed. The Red Cross plans setting up emergency hospitals.

Stock Exchange Reorganization Plan Gets Okay

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Stock Exchange's plans to put its house in order drew quick approval Friday from the Wall Street business and financial community.

A committee of ASE members Thursday recommended reorganization of the nation's No. 2 securities market.

The result of their proposals would be to strengthen and centralize the exchange's administration.

The group acted swiftly in the wake of the resignation of exchange President Edward T. McCormick. General opinion was that the market's own investigators wanted to accomplish reforms in advance of conclusion of a Securities and Exchange Commission inquiry.

The committee recommended an immediate "fundamental revision of the organization and administration of the exchange and its administrative machinery."

It proposed revision of the manner in which the 27 governors are chosen; elimination of the nine standing committees; creation of a steering committee of governors, and quick selection of a new president.

U.S. Again Seeks Restrictions On GE Price Fixing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department, saying the General Electric Co. has been a persistent antitrust law violator, Friday asked for court orders forbidding the firm from fixing prices in every field of its operations.

The department, announcing the filing of a suit in federal court in Philadelphia, said it was an action expanding a case filed Feb. 16, 1960.

The original case asked for prohibitive orders covering 18 heavy electrical equipment fields. The new action asked the court to include everything General Electric makes, ranging from light bulbs to washing machines.

Auto Output Highest In Decade

DETROIT (UPI) — December auto production will total 625,000 units, highest on record for the month since 1955, Ward's Automotive Reports said Friday.

Fourth-quarter output of 1,800 cars is 5.1 per cent more than last year and will be topped only by the 1,949,000 turned out in the final three months of 1955, the statistical agency said.

Output for the week ending Friday was estimated at 147,545 cars, a 10.7 per cent decline from the year's high of 165,219 last week but 28.4 per cent above the 114,941 cars made a year ago. Many plants closed at noon for the Christmas holiday.

Eye For Railroads

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Was the Navy band lending itself to a political campaign when it played "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You" at the departure ceremony for former Navy Secretary John B. Connally?

No, the Navy said Friday. What the band was really playing was "I've Been Working on the Railroad."

Connally went home to Fort Worth, Texas, Wednesday to run for governor.

HOLIDAY DEATHS

At 6 o'clock last evening, the Associated Press began its nation-wide hourly log of deaths in traffic accidents, fires and from miscellaneous causes over the Christmas holiday weekend.

At midnight the count was Traffic 19, Fires 0, Miscellaneous 2, Total 21.

Six Texans Seek Rayburn's Post At Polls Today

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — Six candidates, split into two dissimilar camps, bid Saturday for the House post held 48 years by the late Sam Rayburn.

The field shows two conservatives—one a Democrat and the other a Republican — aligned against four who call themselves "Sam Rayburn Democrats."

Since no candidate possessed a platform radically different from some other contender, political observers believe no man will gain a clear majority over all others.

In that event a runoff between the two top men will be necessary before Feb. 12 by state law.

Over Two Million Hear Billy Graham

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — More than 2 million persons attended the four Billy Graham crusades this year, the Billy Graham evangelistic association said Friday.

The crusades were held in Great Britain, Florida, Philadelphia and the Minnesota State Fairgrounds at St. Paul.

The association said 62,758 persons came forward to make "decisions for Christ" at the crusades.

The 1962 schedule will include Graham crusades in Venezuela, Peru, Ecuador, Colombia, and Chile from Jan. 14 to Feb. 17, and in Argentina, Paraguay, Uruguay and Brazil in the fall.

Crusades also will be held in Chicago May 30 to July 1 and Fresno, Calif., July 15 to 22, it was announced.

Holiday Travelers Crowd Planes, Trains, Highways

By United Press International

A deluge of Merry Christmas travelers struck the nation's highways Friday and hit a pre-holiday crest on thronged planes, trains and buses.

The annual home-for-Christmas push was made hazardous by a blustery snow storm in the Midwest, icy roads over much of the country and the outpouring of tipsy drivers from Friday afternoon office parties.

Furloughing servicemen — their numbers boosted this year by the Berline crisis callup — added to the crush of holiday motorists and travelers on the bulging commercial transport system.

The Nation Safety Council estimated that 500 persons would die in traffic accidents during the three - day Christmas weekend. Scores of others were expected to perish in fires.

The council said 23,000 persons might suffer disabling injuries in mishaps that would erase the joy of the ohlidays.

Safety officials throughout the nation warned against too much speed and too much alcohol as the big culprits in the shocking death tolls of previous holiday seasons.

The most tragic 78-hour Christmas weekend in history was the "black Christmas" of 1955 when 621 persons died on the highways. In last year's 78 - hour holiday period, 485 persons died in traffic.

November Prices Decline As Workers Pay Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department reported Friday a record rise in factory worker earnings in November coupled with a small decline in consumer prices.

The government's living-cost index declined by one-tenth of one per cent to 128.3 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This is only seven-tenths of one per cent above November 1960, smallest November-to-November increase since 1955.

The 128.3 figure for November means it took $1.28-plus to buy what $1 would purchase in the 1947-49 base period.

Both the spendable earnings and buying power of factory workers reached new highs. Spendable earnings is the amount left in pay envelops after federal income and Social Security taxes are deducted.

For the average factory worker heading a family of four, the weekly spendable earnings figure rose by $1 from October to $85.03 in November. This was attributed to more working time and higher hourly pay rates.

Since price levels have remained steady, practically the full amount of the increased earnings has been reflected in greater worker buying power.

Bob Hope, Miss Mansfield Greet Troops In Arctic

STEPHENVILLE, Nfld. (UPI) — Comedian Bob Hope arrived at the U.S. Harmon Field Air Base here Friday en route to Christmas in the Arctic, where he had planned to use Jayne Mansfield as a "warm front."

He said he found it hard to describe GI reaction to the points of interest centered on Miss Mansfield, who is among 61 persons making up Hope's annual Christmas visit to servicemen away from home. But he conceded it might be likened to "a glacier backing up."

The comedian staged a show for airmen at Harmon Field Friday night after two performances, Thursday night and earlier Friday, at the U.S. Navy's Argentia, Nfld., base that drew a total of some 8,000 men from the Navy, Marines and Seabees.

Besides Miss Mansfield and her muscleman husband Mickey Hargitay, the Hope crew includes Jerry Colonna, Dorothy Provine of the "Roaring Twenties" television series, starlet Anita Bryant, "Miss World," Rosemarie Frankland of Britain, and Les Brown and his orchestra.

Court Upholds Libel Award To Ex-Policeman

Sun Publishers Lose Case In Md. Court Of Appeals

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A newspaper cannot rely on previously published accounts to defend an editorial comment in a libel suit unless such information is cited in the editorial, the Maryland Court of Appeals ruled Friday.

The high court upheld a $45,000 award to Edgar Gordon Kirby, a former Baltimore City Rackets Squad sergeant, in a libel suit suit against the A. S. Abell Co., publisher of the Baltimore Sunpapers.

The Baltimore Sun had referred to the ex-sergeant as "the infamous Kirby" in an editorial about an attempt by some city legislators to remove James Hepbron as Baltimore police commissioner.

Kirby, who had been suspended and later dismissed by the police commissioner, was a witness at hearings held by the city delegation to the legislature and by Gov. Tawes on the question of Hepbron's fitness to continue as commissioner.

Kirby said the adjective "infamous" was defamatory and libelous on its face and that the editorial falsely imputed to him corrupt motives in testifying at the Hepbron hearing.

Maryland News In Brief

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE (AP) — A "lights-on" campaign for motorists in the Maryland area is being sponsored again this Christmas by the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission and the Maryland-D.C. Broadcasters' Association.

From Friday until sundown Christmas Eve, motorists are asked to drive with their dim lights on during the daytime. The aim is to remind every motorist to observe the golden rule of safety: "Drive the way you would like others to drive their cars."

BALTIMORE (AP) — A man described by Judge Joseph L. Carter as "the biggest lottery operator" to appear this year in Criminal Court has been sentenced to five years in the Maryland Penitentiary.

Judge Carter imposed the term on Harvey Joseph Robinson III, 42, convicted last June of numbers and conspiracy charges.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Friendship International Airport will open a $300,000 wing for overseas passengers about Jan. 15.

Aviation Director John Colonna said the building will be for passengers and officials of customs, immigration and public health. It is part of a $2,225,000 expansion project which eventually will include additional ticket counters, airline offices and gate positions.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Fire Chief John J. Killen has a Christmas tip for home owners: Be careful of fires with that Christmas tree.

Killen said trees should be bought fresh just before Christmas Day and erected in a pail of water. He said the most common causes of tree fires are a dried-out tree, Christmas candles, over-loaded circuits, fireplace sparks and toys or decorations which are combustible.

6 Die In Cold Wave

NEW DELHI, India (AP)— Six persons have died here in a cold wave that reached 36 degrees Friday, the lowest in 13 years.

In summer maximum temperatures in the Indian capital are usually about 110 degrees.

Birds do not usually begin incubating their eggs until the full complement has been laid.

The editorial also accused the United Nations of "unscrupulous intervention" in China's internal affairs by discussing the Tibetan question. The General Assembly censured China for its attack on Tibet.

A formal statement by the Foreign Ministry said the U.N. resolutions on China and Tibet were "null and void" and charged that the world body acted "illegally."

The jabs at the Soviet Union came in reports of the lavish reception accorded a visiting Albanian economic delegation in Peiping, and a speech at a meeting of the "world peace council" in Stockholm by Liu Ning-yi, vice chairman of China's so-called Peace Council.

Liu was quoted as saying that the proposals for general and complete disarmament — the phrase used by the Soviets—were "erroneous and most harmful." He said the "most important issue for the oppressed nations and newly independent countries is definitely not disarmament but to build up and expand their armed forces."

tient not to say more lest he overexert himself.

Attending physicians, more conservative than some of Kennedy's visitors, said in a noon bulletin that his condition remained serious. But they added that the patient "has shown some improvement" and that "his progress is satisfactory."

Mrs. John F. Kennedy, the First Lady, arrived at St. Mary's Hospital shortly after Cardinal Cushing had left. She remained one hour and 19 minutes.

Mrs. Kennedy smilingly said she shared the cardinal's optimism over Joseph Kennedy's condition. "He's brave," she added.

The President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, spent Thursday night in the hospital. In the morning he and his cousin, Ann Gargan, received Communion in the hospital chapel. Then Robert visited a children's ward.

Cardinal Cushing arrived at midmorning en route from Lima, Peru, to Boston.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Wear Red Well, With Spirit

Most men like to see women wearing red if they wear it well. And almost every woman can. The secret lies in picking the red that suits your skin tone. There are reds and reds and if you find your type in the listing below, beside it you'll find the right one for you:

Cool Blonde (with fair skin): Wear the rich blue-reds such as the ones that make you think of ripe raspberries or Amercian Beauty roses. Cool Brunette (with fair skin): Try the striking purple-reds, magnenta and burgundy.

Warm blonde (with honey skin): Stick to the subtle orange-reds. Angthing from apricot to bitter-sweet will accent your unusual coloring Warm Brunette (dark skin): Experiment with the sophisticated yellow-reds — tangerine, flame, Chinese.

Silver Fox (silver hair): What type were you before your hair attained its present distinction? All you have to do is find that type above. If you think the color listed beside it is too bright, you are wrong. But if you'd feel more comfortable in a less vibrant shade, you may select a red with the same undertone as those listed, but grayed-down to a whisper.

Titian: Depends on your shade of hair. If it has a lot of yellow light in it, the chances are you can wear some of the more toned-down, yellow reds.

And here's the second Powers Girl secret of wearing red well: Your rouge and lipstick must complement the undertone of whatever you wear. It does not necessarily have to match, but it must be in the same family. I doubt if you would fall for a burgundy lipstick if you wear a burgundy coat; you'd have to have some lighter shade of blue-red stick.

The one exception to this rule is a lucky one. If you already own something that you know in your heart is the wrong shade of red for your skin, you can make a glorious compromise by using a lipstick that is true red. It must have no blue or yellow undertones. The pull between your own skin tones and the underlying tones of the dress will be resolved or very nearly so by the tactful graduation of the color on your lips.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Deuteronomy	6	4-15
Monday	Deuteronomy	6	16-25
Tuesday	Galatians	4	1-7
Wednesday	John	3	16-21
Thursday	Isaiah	53	1-6
Friday	Isaiah	53	7-12
Saturday	Isaiah	9	1-7

This little dog is confused. Many of us are in the same dilemma. What is Christmas, anyway? What does it mean? Do the tinsel and decorations obscure the true meaning?

Christmas decorations, Christmas trees, Christmas gifts have their part in this greatest day of all the year, but back of them is the manger and the Christ Child, God's gift to mankind.

In the Church you will find the true spirit of Christmas in all its joy, beauty and sacredness. The Wise Men will become so real you will follow the star with them. With the shepherds on the Judean hillside you will hear the song of angels. You will go to Bethlehem where you will kneel before the King. Kneeling, you will find the true meaning of Christmas.

Will you come?

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Deuteronomy	6	4-15
Monday	Deuteronomy	6	16-25
Tuesday	Galatians	4	1-7
Wednesday	John	3	16-21
Thursday	Isaiah	53	1-6
Friday	Isaiah	53	7-12
Saturday	Isaiah	9	1-7

This little dog is confused. Many of us are in the same dilemma. What is Christmas, anyway? What does it mean? Do the tinsel and decorations obscure the true meaning?

Christmas decorations, Christmas trees, Christmas gifts have their part in this greatest day of all the year, but back of them is the manger and the Christ Child, God's gift to mankind.

In the Church you will find the true spirit of Christmas in all its joy, beauty and sacredness. The Wise Men will become so real you will follow the star with them. With the shepherds on the Judean hillside you will hear the song of angels. You will go to Bethlehem where you will kneel before the King. Kneeling, you will find the true meaning of Christmas.

Will you come?

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Bible still is the No. 1 gift book for Christmas.

The all-time best-seller is available in enough versions and editions to suit almost any taste in scriptural reading.

It also comes in enough prices to satisfy every pocketbook. The American Bible Society offers a complete Bible for as little as 90 cents. A New Testament costs only 18 cents, and the Gospels a mere 3 cents—less than it costs to mail a Christmas card.

For the Bible reader with everything, there is a $750, two-volume facsimile edition of the Gutenberg Bible, published in New York.

Door-to-door salesmen are doing a big business in family Bibles priced at $40 and up. The Bible is available on records for blind persons and for those who simply prefer The Word to be spoken.

The Bible has been rewritten into story form for Protestant children in ten colorful volumes. There is a one-volume adaptation for young Catholic readers.

There are many versions and hundreds of editions of the Bible. Scriptures come in red, black, white, and blue bindings, in a variety of type sizes and with or without various features such as concordances, maps, gazeteers and chain references. The most popular version still is the King James, but the Revised Standard Version and the New Testament of the New English Bible are in great demand.

Thirteer books of a 25-volume Layman's Bible Commentary now are available at $2 each or four for $7. Halley's Bible Handbook, at $3.95, contains Bible commentary, notes on the books of the Bible, and historical backgrounds.

For the person who likes to carry scriptures in his coat pocket, there is "The Little Bible," a collection of Old and New Testament selections, Beatitudes, Commandments, the Lord's Prayer and 23rd Psalm. It is priced at 25 cents singly, or 23 cents in lots of 100. The Amplified New Testament, described as the "understandable new translation that explains itself," costs $3.95.

Children especially seem to like the Rainbow Bible, bearing a color picture of Jesus receiving the children on the cover. The binding is soil resistant and easily cleaned. This Bible comes in two editions, one with a binding that zips for $3.75, the other without zipper for $2.75.

Many ministers will receive pulpit Bibles, large volumes with easy-to-read type. These run about $60.

THE BOILING CONGO

BANNER OF REVOLT: New flag of Katanga is raised at Elisabethville after province broke away from the central government.

RIVAL LEADERS

PREMIER CYRILLE ADOULA: He has the backing of the Western Powers and the U.N.

MOISE TSHOMBE: His control of secessionist Katanga is a major source of trouble.

ANTOINE GIZENGA: A leftist, he leads dissident forces in Eastern province.

As a new member of the family of nations, scarcely two years old, the Republic of the Congo is having more than its share of growing pains.

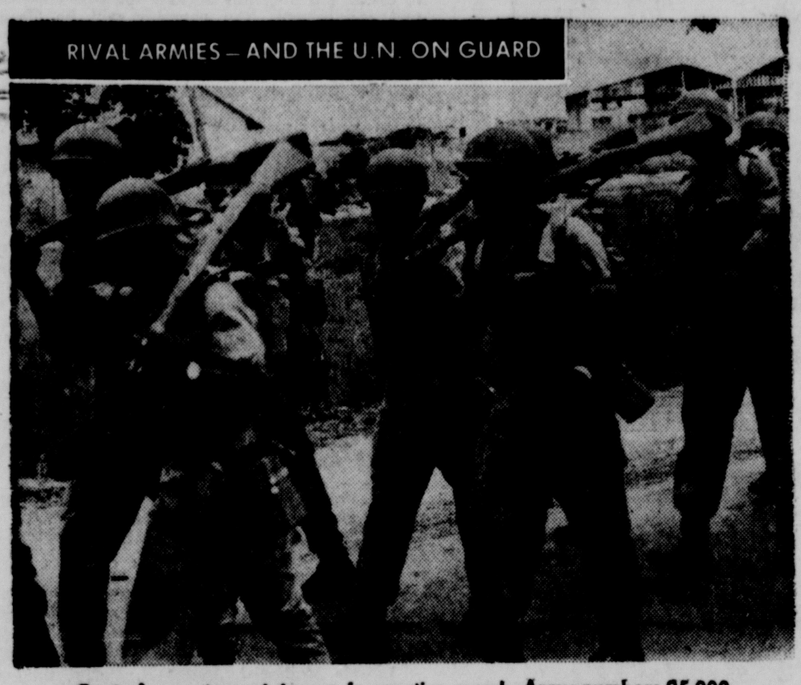
The huge sprawling state, larger than all the United States east of the Mississippi, has been rent by civil strife and political dissension practically from the first day it won its independence from Belgium on June 30, 1960.

Scarcely a day passes that there isn't fresh trouble.

Whither the Congo? That is the painful question troubling its own 14 million people, world statesmen and governments, and particularly the people and leaders of the other new African nations whose futures can be affected by the turns in Congolese affairs.

Pictured here is the Congo nation, its people, leaders, soldiers, and members of the U.N. force sent to establish law and order.

RIVAL ARMIES – AND THE U.N. ON GUARD



Central government troops in practice march. Army numbers 25,000.

Ever on the watch, Swedish troops of the United Nations force man a control tower. U. N. force of 15,000 in the Congo is made up of contingents from 18 nations.

MOMENTS OF PEACE

With her baby on her back, a woman sells fish in the market in Leopoldville. Congolese babies are always with their mothers.

Two white women shop for fruits and vegetables displayed on sidewalk in Elisabethville, in Katanga province. Some Europeans still remain though many have fled the country

INDUSTRY IN RICH KATANGA

Katanga is nation's wealthiest province with vast deposits of copper, gold, cobalt, diamonds, zinc and uranium. Its mines and industries have been developed by Belgian investment. At top, a copper mine, and below, a smelting and refining works near Elisabethville.

The Congo has hundreds of tribes and clans. Here, king Kalonji, leader of Baluba tribe of Kasai province, addresses subjects in Tschilenge.

Some missionaries have remained to carry on their work. In Elisabethville, a Belgian missionary stops to tell stories to a group of native children.

Year-to-date output of soft coal was approximately 380,790,000 tons compared with 400,751,000 in the similar period last year.

Yule Party Held At Infirmary

The annual Christmas party for patients at the Allegany County Infirmary sponsored by Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus, was held a recent afternoon with Raymond 'Ike' Law, KC sick committee chairman, as master of ceremonies. Members of the Dixon dance studio presented a program of entertainment. Mrs. Minnie Shaw played the organ as accompanist. About 70 women patients each received a corsage and Christmas treat presented by Mr. Law who is shown above pinning a corsage on Mrs. Rose Collins, queen of the party. Others in the picture left to right are Miss Katie B. Stickley, Mrs. Elizabeth Klitsch, Mrs. Elizabeth Wilkins and Mrs. Carrie Perdew. Mrs. Edward Naughton and Mrs. Virginia Chaney, Red Cross gray ladies, assisted Mr. Law at the party. This year's was the 11th annual affair.

fail to mention that the railroad threw 15,000 miners out of work when they switched from coal to diesel locomotives.

At the same time, the West Virginia AFL - CIO organization said in a publication that the fact that the national organization had gone on record against the pipeline did not mean the State Labor Federation would also work against it.

The statement said the resolution condemning the pipeline was pushed through the recent Miami Beach convention "with little time for consideration" at the instigation of railroad brotherhoods. The state AFL-CIO has the proposition under consideration for several months but has not taken a definite position."

County Worker Compensation Award

The Maryland Workman's Compensation Commission has notified the Allegany County Board of Commissioners that an award has been made to a roads department worker for an injury received while at work for the county.

Ernest Drew will be paid $25 per week for a period not to exceed 61¼ weeks for - foot injury. The claim was heard by Commissioner Paul M. Fletcher at a recent session held at the Court House. The county employes are covered by Workman's Compensation.

Treatment Of Heart Is Unique

FRANKLIN, W Va. (UPI) — A new technique used in treatment of heart patients was recently performed here for the first time in the eastern part of the country.

Already used several times on the West coast, the experiment involves the sending of a heart beat to a hospital by telephone, which in turn automatically produces an electrocardiogram of the "beat" for study.

The West Virginia experiment originated from the office of Dr. Luther E. Rexrode. The heart beat of a patient was transmitted to Rockingham Memorial Hospital in Harrisonburg, Va.

An electrocardiogram shows by a graph the beat of a heart. A physician "reads" the graph to check on possible heart trouble.

The new technique is particularly valuable to rural physicians who do not have available such equipment.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Every person who reads your column knows at least one fellow who has been called into the service within the last six months.

If people only realized the importance of mail they'd sit down this very minute and get off a letter or two. It would take half an hour at the most to write a letter — and it needn't be a literary masterpiece. A casual rehash of what's been going on in town, a report on mutual friends, a few clippings from the local newspaper, could make a fellow's day.

I've seen guys whoop with joy when they were handed a couple letters. And I've seen 200-pounders close to tears when they had to walk away from mail call empty-handed.

Please, Ann, remind the lucky ones at home that these guys have been yanked out of schools, careers and happy homes to do a job for all of us. Mail is the best morale-booster in the world. Don't let them down.—A BUCK SERGEANT.

DEAR SERGEANT: Thanks for the reminder. I'm going to write a couple of letters today.

DEAR ANN: You get lots of complaints from women whose husbands give them shiners and loosen up their teeth. This is different. It's the wife who has the Irish temper in our house.

We've been married 38 years. The kids are all on their own. Ever since I can remember the little woman has been clobbering me, pulling my hair out (I was glad when I became bald) and throwing dishes. I finally bought plastic plates because it go so bad she'd break up a half a set at a time and we didn't have enough dishes to eat on.

Please don't tell me to leave her. She has lots of good qualities and she looks sort of cute when she gets her dander up. Just tell me how to handle her. JOE

DEAR JOE: If you've been ducking crockery for 38 years and finally had to go to plastic you must like to live dangerously.

Since you told me not to advise you to leave, I won't. Just outfit yourself with a crash-helmet —and lotsa luck.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A girl who works in our office is getting a diamond soon. Her fiance has asked her to go along with him to select it.

Isn't this in bad taste? It not only lets the girl know how much he pays for the ring but it also destroys the most romantic moment of a girl's life.

In my opinion an engagement ring should be a total surprise. Do you agree?—CAROL

DEAR CAROL: Wake up, Little Dreamer. The day has long passed when the young swain knelt in the parlour, whipped the ring out of his vest pocket, placed it on the maiden's finger —and the girl fainted from the excitement.

So what's wrong with a girl knowing how much her engagement ring cost? Some sensible girls want to go along to make sure the guy doesn't spend more than he should. And since it's the gal who will be wearing the ring, doesn't it seem reasonable that she should go along and make sure she gets something she truly likes?

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Vehicle Ownership Rises As County Population Drops

Automobile ownership boomed in Allegany County during the decade which ended in 1960 in spite of a sharp population loss, according to the State Planning Department.

The unit noted in its current newsletter that motor vehicle ownership rose 9,099 during the period noted by a population loss of 5,384.

The same trend was noted in Garrett County, which added 1,997 vehicles while losing 839 residents between 1950 and 1960.

Teenage Dropouts Lead Unemployed

United States Bureau of Labor Statistics investigators have found the age-old warning by parents and teachers against students dropping out of school before high school graduation to be particularly appropriate to current unemployment.

Of all the categories of workers who are unable to find work in today's economy, the age group 16-19 has the highest rate of unemployment.

Despite all the usual advantages of youth—eagerness to learn a new task, abundant energy, good health and the prospect of a long productive life — young people without a high school diploma have difficulty finding work. And those fortunate enough to obtain jobs frequently find themselves greatly limited in earnings and advancement potentials.

It is easy—too easy—to look back over the history of this country, and indeed the world, at the number of great men who achieved a permanent niche in history for accomplishments reached without the benefit of any great amount of formal education. Some of the United States' most renowned political and business leaders of the past are in this group.

But, while it is still possible for an individual to reach a high degree of success without the stepping stones of formal education, a growing array of fields today is denied the uneducated. Technology — the all-inclusive term denoting superior knowledge in the intricacies of many new sciences and research successes—is a prime requisite in industry, invention and government.

Emphasis on skills and training is not diminishing. The many new fields of scientific pursuit will demand greater preparation in the years ahead. It is this fact which should carry the preponderance of weight when a decision on whether to remain in school or drop out—for economic reasons or any other — is to be made.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Christmas 1961

The characteristic greeting of the peoples of the East is "Sholom," expressed in various dialects. "Sholom" or "Salaam" is not "Good Morning" or "Good Day." It is peace. It is Pax. It represents the most urgent need of the peoples who lived in the deserts of Palestine and all the countries thereabouts.

Jesus was not a military hero like Alexander; He was not a rich man like Croesus; He was not a great politician like Caesar or a combination of all these men like Constantine. He was a poor man who wandered among other poor men and women and preached peace, not only peace of the soul, but peace among nations. That was during the first century, as we count time, and peace has not come to mankind despite His preaching and the enormous following that He developed.

And that is most interesting: men say that they believe, but usually they do not trouble to know what they believe. And so millions call themselves Christians but they do not believe in anything that Jesus preached or even know what He preached.

They call themselves Christians and wear a crucifix on their clothes as a mark of belonging but the two principal moral doctrines of Christianity, namely, peace on Earth and love thy neighbor as thyself, they neither attempt to understand nor to practice. And the few who do attempt to live according to the ideals of Jesus are ridiculed as, for instance, Francis of Assisi was ridiculed all his life by lesser men who held higher posts and wore more decorative costumes.

During these nearly two thousand years that men and women have followed the teachings of Jesus, there have been very few Christians upon this Earth and among those who described themselves as such there were few who either thought as He did or lived up to His preachments.

And so here we are in the year 1961 and we are again in the midst of war, wasting our produce and our earnings on war, on meaningless, purposeless war. Here we are hating as human beings have never hated before.

Even in our own country we are torn by hatred, one group for another, one race for another, one religion for another. Hatred seems to prevail in our minds and our hearts because how would we assert our superiority if hatred did not give us stature and posture.

Who is greater than another if all are smaller than God? It is puzzling that men and women kneel and pray and imagine themselves so superior to all upon this Earth when the very act of prayer is an acknowledgement that all are equal in the eyes of God.

The birthday of Jesus can be celebrated as a holiday of beauty, of love, of universal faith by Christian and non-Christian alike if once we forget and forego hatred and the concept of superiority by those who are given the Nobel prize. Or perhaps a measure might be found in sheer goodness, such as, in our times, we witnessed in Leo Tolstoy or Ghandi or Dr. Schweitzer or Dr. Dooley. Who knows where a violet will seed itself or a star will appear in the Heavens?

But this we do know: it is difficult to live up to an ideal of truth and love and a life without hatred. And most do not try at all.

On this peaceful day when I quietly contemplate the coming of Christmas and the peaceful life of the Jew, Jesus, I receive a letter from a reader, John J. Keenan of New York, who says:

"It is superfluous to speak of a Judaic-Christian heritage. Judaism should have ceased to exist with the coming of Christ; but in the hardness of your tribe it vainly seeks for a political Messiah who would rule over 'the stupid goyim'."

And as a gift to celebrate the birth of Him who loved peace and His fellowman and who could forgive evil, he sends me a little pamphlet of narrow hatred, "The Rulers of Russia," by Rev. Denis Fahey. And I have no prejudice against this confused pamphlet because I know such a one as Cardinal Spellman, who is the shepherd of all who know love and to whom bigotry and hatred are unchristian. I can disregard his inferior.

Some Congressmen Have Pulled Wires Secretly To Aid Reservists

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Members of Congress don't like to have it known when they pull wires with the Pentagon to get their constituents out of military service. However, they have been doing it in considerable volume, chiefly to help reservists.

Most of the men involved had not served one day of active duty in World War II or the Korean War but signed up in the reserves or National Guard to escape the peacetime draft.

Sen. Prescott Bush, Connecticut Republican, tried to excuse George Krall of New Haven from military duty to help with his father's coal business.

House Democratic Leader John McCormack of Massachusetts, the probable next speaker, made a personal phone call to the Pentagon and wrote a follow-up letter to keep Charles Monterior of Harwick, Mass., out of the service. Congressman Ivor Fenton, Pennsylvania Republican, pleaded with the Pentagon that John Hardinger Jr., of Orwigsburg, Pa., had a sick grandfather, a mortgage, and furntiure payments that should come before military service.

Congressman J. Vaughan Gary, Virginia Democrat, wired the Air Force that it would be in the government's best interests to let Billy Nix continue his studies at the University of Richmond.

Congressman Michael Kirwan, Ohio Democrat, intervened in behalf of Donald Knapp of Athens, Ohio, who wanted to duck his military obligation in order to attend Ohio University.

Congressman William Springer, Illinois Republican, put in a cautious word at the Pentagon to get a deferment for Bruce Knicley of Charleston, Ill., to teach school.

Congressman Howard Robison, New York Republican, tried to keep Capt. Richard Alderman of Canisteo, N. Y., from being recalled to active Air Force duty after he had volunteered for immediate assignment, then changed his mind.

Ex-Speaker Joe Martin, Massachusetts Republican, asked the Air Force to consider the case of Themistocles Anagos of Foxboro, Mass., so he can run his ailing father's store.

Congressman Robert Giaimo, Connecticut Democrat, wrote to the Air Force in behalf of Richard Anderson of Old Saybrook, Conn., who would like to remain a civilian in order to study speech therapy at Southern Connecitcut State College.

All the requests cited above were turned down.

Is Hong Kong Next?

There's alarm in British diplomatic circles over the possiblity that the Red Chinese will now take a cue from the Indian precedent of invading Goa and invade the British colony of Hong Kong and the Portuguese colony of Macao.

This, it's believed, was behind the fact that the Red Chinese, though at times on the verge of war with India over the northern border, publicly supported Nehru and his invasion of Goa.

British diplomats don't really expect the Red Chinese to pounce on Hong Kong in the near future. The island is too good a source of foreign trade. Also Macao, the Portuguese colony, is an excellent outlet for illicit trade—chiefly opium.

But when the Red Chinese figure the time is ripe, they'll have the excellent precedent set by India for taking over the last remaining western colonies on Chinese shores.

Old Joe Kennedy

One thing most people—especially on Wall Street—don't know about Joseph P. Kennedy, once a Wall Street speculator, is that he was responsible for appointing one of the toughest regulators of Wall Street and one of the most liberal members of the U. S. Supreme Court.

When Roosevelt picked old Joe Kennedy to head up the newly organized Securities and Exchange Commission to police Wall Street after the bank holiday, one of the first things Joe did was to bring a young Yale professor, William O. Douglas, down to Washington to head up the SEC's reorganization division. Later, Joe persuaded Roosevelt to appoint Douglas as an SEC commissioner.

By this time the President's father had left the SEC and James Landis had become chairman. By this time also, a terrific battle had developed inside the SEC over cracking down on Wall Street. Some of the old fervor for being tough on Wall Street had evaporated.

Therefore, when Landis left the commission to become dean of the Harvard Law School, opposition developed against Douglas as his successor. So Douglas, with an invitation to return to the Yale Law School, was about to leave town. In fact, he was all packed and about to catch the 10 a. m. train, when he got a phone call from Joe Kennedy.

"Don't take that train," Joe told him. "I think you'll get a call from the White House. Just sit tight."

Later in the day, Roosevelt called, asking Douglas to become chairman of the SEC. There he charted a tough policy of regulating Wall Street, later was appointed to the Supreme Court where he has handed down some of the most liberal opinions of this decade.

President Sides With McNamara's "Deterrent"

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

On the afternoon of Saturday, Dec. 9, the final meeting on the Defense Department's budget was held at the White House. The key problem was the shape, size, and role of the American nuclear deterrent.

The extreme solution of the problem proposed by the Air Force had already been crossed off the list. The Air Staff had fought hard for maximum output of the Minuteman solid-fueled intercontinental missile. But Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara had found no clear requirements for the gigantic future striking force of 2,300 Minutemen, for which the Air Force had argued.

Even though this kind of overwhelming Minuteman buildup was now ruled out, a grave issue of principle remained to be decided by the President. Certain leading members of his personal staff, notably his chief scientist, Dr. Jerome Weisner, were advocating what is called a "minimum deterrent," whereas Secretary McNamara took a quite different view.

The "minimum deterrent" is not so weak or small, to be sure. To deter at all, it must comprise enough nuclear weapons, well enough dug in and "hardened," so that a massive counter-strike can be launched after the enemy's first nuclear strike has been absorbed. The minimum deterrent is only "minimum," in fact, because the thing to be deterred is as limited as possible.

The sole aim, in other words, is to deter the enemy from launching a nuclear first strike. This limited aim makes sense if you accept the doctrine publicly proclaimed by President Eisenhower, and enshrined in the Eisenhower-era secret planning papers — the doctrine that this country will never launch a nuclear first strike in any circumstances. There are also other arguments for a minimum deterrent, such as the risks involved in an acceleration of the arms race.

Secretary McNamara had not been convinced by these arguments, however. He had instead adopted a design for what might be called a specialized deterrent. The design was based, to begin with, on current estimates of the Soviets' existing nuclear striking power, plus forward estimates of the additional striking power the Soviets will acquire by their greatly increased defense program.

The existing and anticipated Soviet long and medium range rocket emplacements and the relatively small Soviet long range bomber force were considered as one target system. The highly accurate Minuteman missile was classified as the primary weapon for use against this particularly difficult system of pinpoint targets. But secondary use of the Polaris missile was also decided upon, although the Polaris's submarine-firing platform makes it a less accurate weapon than Minuteman.

A large additional allowance of Polaris missiles was then made, for use, if need be, against the urban-industrial and other classic targets of old-style strategic bombing. The same role was assigned to the reduced number of long range bombers that will be left in service after missile striking-power has greatly increased.

Room was also left to decide, later on, whether urban-industrial targets should be attacked simultaneously with the targets presented by the enemy's nuclear force, or whether this kind of strike-capability should be held in reserve. This aspect of the new deterrent-design has given rise to the recent report that, even in the event of all-out nuclear war, Soviet urban-industrial centers will be left untouched. The truth is that the question remains open.

The specialized deterrent thus designed by Secretary McNamara required a lot more nuclear striking power than the minimum deterrent, but a lot less than the 2,300 Minutemen originally demanded by the Air Force. To be specific, McNamara spoke up for an increase of the Minuteman program to provide 800 missiles, and an increased in the Polaris program to provide 41 Polaris submarines, each carrying sixteen missiles.

According to the McNamara design, these basic weapons were to be in place by the end of 1965, of course together with the already built or scheduled Atlas and Titan long-range, liquid-fueled missiles, plus the bomber units of the Strategic Air Command not destined to be phased out. Provision was also made for a further step-up of the Minuteman program to provide 1,200 of these missiles, in case this seemed to be required by later developments.

The final White House debate about the minimum deterrent vs. the McNamara deterrent is said to have been protracted, and to have evoked several viewpoints. The President's military advisor, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, for instance, is not a supporter of the minimum deterrent theory. Yet Gen. Taylor apparently considered that the McNamara defense budget of close to $53 billion allocated too little to conventional forces in proportion to nuclear forces.

In the end, according to report, the President closed the argument with the quiet statement, "I agree with the Secretary of Defense." The far-reaching implications of this decision will be examined in a final report in this series.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

'MEAT AX JOHN' — Rep. John Taber, 81-year-old Republican from Central New York, founded his political career on the issue of economy 40 years ago and never veered from course during his four decades in the House of Representatives.

He, perhaps more than any other Republican in Congress in modern times, has held down government spending, whether it be during Republican or Democratic control of the executive branch of government.

Taber, long known as "Meat Ax John," has announced that he will not seek re-election to the House next year. He'll be missed by liberals as well as conservatives who found him to be sincere and a square shooter beneath a rough exterior.

Taber spoke in a loud, grating monotone that gave his budget-cutting speeches a singularly accusative quality, as though he was imputing sinister motives to those in government who would squander the national substance.

Because of his voice and his unwavering stand on budget cutting, he was to Capitol Hill newcomers a formidable and dour man. However, after some years of acquaintanceship, his colleagues and selected members of the administration and the Washington press corps invariably discovered that he had a fine sense of humanity, of humor and of the realities of politics.

Usually, a representative who fights for economy in government has a constituency of better than average income, whose tax dollars he tries to save in order to garner votes for the next election. Taber's district was just the opposite. It suffered from chronic unemployment, emigration of industries and a greater than average need for federal assistance.

This never stopped Taber from fighting for what he believed was right. Many, many times Taber led fights against federal outlays that would have assisted his own hard-pressed constituents and made him more popular. And never in recent years was he without political opposition in his re-election campaigns.

Taber, and the kind of legislator he symbolized, will be sorely missed in Congress and in the country.

Miss Julie

By John Crosby

From time to time, I like to check up on Julie Harris, one of the few fixed stars in the theater, a woman (although I find it difficult not to think of her as a girl) who has a deeply devoted following. There aren't many of those left.

It's been a banner year all right for the actress. She has played a priest's mistress (mother of his child, of all things) in Graham Greene's "Power and the Glory" on television, playing it, I thought, with a bit too much of an Irish brogue, considering the girl was supposed to be an Indian from Central America; she's been Queen Victoria, going from young British girlhood to old, old, old age in "Victoria Regina"; and she's packing them in (despite rather mixed notices) in the Marcel Achard-Harry Kurnitz play, "Shot in the Dark," in which she plays a frightfully amoral and frisky French girl. She's been, in short, awfully international.

"When I knew I was going to do this play, I wanted to be different than I had ever been before. A part should not be just a reflection of yourself but what the character is supposed to be. I've always loved the way Brigitte Bardot wore her hair It looks as if she just got out of bed. I collected a lot of pictures of her and then went to a hairdresser and said, 'Make me look like that.' He did his best," she said. Actually, she doesn't really look like Brigitte Bardot but she looks awfully French, the waist-length hair caught up in dripping side bangs.

The last time I looked in on Miss Harris, she was playing Joan of Arc in "The Lark." How did she like playing in a very fast, very French farce?

"I love doing this play. I find a comedy like this, when it's so well constructed, exhilarating. The mystery makes it exciting. 'What's going to happen now?' 'Who did it?' Although the play is based on an actual case, you don't get the feeling you're reading it in a newspaper. There is something terribly human about it, something terribly real, and a kind of sadness along with the fun."

Miss Harris played opposite one of her idols, Sir Laurence Olivier, in "The Power and the Glory." "I've always felt all his work was so dedicated, so beautiful. Life gets to be gray and you forget the sources of your inspiration so easily. But when I see him on the stage, I always say to myself: 'Oh, yes, that's why we're all alive — so we will be able to see that.' His performances always remind me of the wonder of man." It's a very knowing, very perceptive critique of Olivier.

She fell to discussing her current role, which is about as far as you can get from Joan of Arc. "Playing a naughty girl isn't new to me, you know. Sally in 'I Am a Camera' was pretty outrageous. But I have noticed a difference between the audiences of a few years ago and today. Sometimes in 'I Am a Camera,' I used to say things that would cause the audience to gasp; especially during matinees I'd get shocked reactions. In this play I just don't feel that. Audiences don't seem to shock as easily. I must say there are a few things I say at the end of 'A Shot in the Dark' which make me feel very naughty!"

The discussion switched to Queen Victoria: "Victoria was such a difficult person to get to know because she was so many different things. Whatever part you play, you have to find the human qualities, the characteristics that make them act the way they do. I read a great deal about her. This didn't help me play her but it did help to make me understand her.

"It is difficult to say which is more difficult to play — a queen or a lady of easy virtue. An actor has, you might say, almost the same training a queen has. He has to train his voice, train his body, how he holds himself. I've always studied dance along with acting. The only thing I wasn't trained in was how to converse the way Victoria was. The part I play now in 'Shot in the Dark,' on the other hand, is the opposite of everything Victoria was."

With all the diversity of her plays, I didn't recall ever seeing her in Shakespeare in New York. "Oh, yes," she said, "I played the third witch in 'Macbeth' with Michael Redgrave here in New York many years ago. I think one needs a strong director before one attempts Shakespeare. I just can't see myself floundering around in it."

Teeth Weren't Made For Cracking Nutshells

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Dentists shudder when they think of the silly things people do at this time of the year. Teeth were made for biting and chewing but not to substitute for nutcrackers or bottle openers.

Never use the teeth to crack hard shelled nuts such as walnuts or pecans because you may crack a molar or jar loose a filling. A nutcracker or even an ordinary hammer does a better job.

The dumbest trick of all is to pry off a bottle cap with the teeth. Persons who try it usually are a bit high and want to be the life of the party. But they really are the prize goofs because they end up with chipped or broken teeth. A new bottle opener can be bought but only one permanent set of choppers is allotted to each man.

Don't use the teeth to cut string or ribbons from Christmas gifts. The edge of the enamel is scratched or cut easily by biting string or thread. Keep scissors handy; they do a quicker and safer job.

Many persons have the habit of biting on the pen when preparing holiday greetings ards. This practice represents a carry over from school days when pencil nibbling was common.

Save those teeth for the good food that so many families consume over the holidays. The children can have their sweets and eat them too if the teeth are brushed or the mouth is rinsed with water shortly thereafter. This is a nuisance but could develop into a health habit if encouraged.

HEAVY DRINKERS

M. S. writes: Friends of mine in the fifties drink three to four fifths of liquor a week. Their attitude is "We all have to die sometime." Please comment.

REPLY

A poor excuse is better than none but they are missing the boat if they mean what they say. The last third of life can be the most enjoyable of all but not when it is spent in a stupor.

MINOR BLACKOUTS

W. J. writes: Are there cases of petit mal in which the person does not lose consciousness but slows down momentarily? If he is speaking, for example, he slows down and has to make an effort to continue?

REPLY

Yes — this is characteristic of this type of epilepsy. The majority lose consciousness for a second or two but this may not be apparent to the onlooker.

NECK LUMP

F. T. writes: My 14-year-old son has a soft lump midway between his chin and throat. It moves toward the throat when he swallows. Is this serious?

REPLY

Some lumps in the area are serious whereas others are not. This may be his Adam's apple or one of the cysts that sometimes grow from the lower part of the throat. This boy needs to be examined.

NASAL CONGESTION

T. V. writes: I have an awful lot of trouble with sneezing and a stopped up nose but it's not a cold. Could this be due to nervousness?

REPLY

Yes—or allergy. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on allergic rhinitis.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

The Rev. Andrew Poole tells about a fellow clergyman who was invited to a child's fashionable birthday party. He thereupon dropped to his hands and knees and crawled into the rumpus room, barking like a dog.

Looking up, he found six adults staring at him incredulously.

He had come to the wrong house.

Teenage Dropouts Lead Unemployed

United States Bureau of Labor Statistics investigators have found the age-old warning by parents and teachers against students dropping out of school before high school graduation to be particularly appropriate to current unemployment.

Of all the categories of workers who are unable to find work in today's economy, the age group 16-19 has the highest rate of unemployment.

Despite all the usual advantages of youth—eagerness to learn a new task, abundant energy, good health and the prospect of a long productive life—young people without a high school diploma have difficulty finding work. And those fortunate enough to obtain jobs frequently find themselves greatly limited in earnings and advancement potentials.

It is easy—too easy—to look back over the history of this country, and indeed the world, at the number of great men who achieved a permanent niche in history for accomplishments reached without the benefit of any great amount of formal education. Some of the United States' most renowned political and business leaders of the past are in this group.

But, while it is still possible for an individual to reach a high degree of success without the stepping stones of formal education, a growing array of fields today is denied the uneducated. Technology — the all-inclusive term denoting superior knowledge in the intricacies of many new sciences and research successes—is a prime requisite in industry, invention and government.

Emphasis on skills and training is not diminishing. The many new fields of scientific pursuit will demand greater preparation in the years ahead. It is this fact which should carry the preponderance of weight when a decision on whether to remain in school or drop out—for economic reasons or any other—is to be made.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Christmas 1961

The characteristic greeting of the peoples of the East is "Sholom," expressed in various dialects. "Sholom" or "Salaam" is not "Good Morning" or "Good Day." It is peace. It is Pax. It represents the most urgent need of the peoples who lived in the deserts of Palestine and all the countries thereabouts.

Jesus was not a military hero like Alexander; He was not a rich man like Croesus; He was not a great politician like Caesar or a combination of all these men like Constantine. He was a poor man who wandered among other poor men and women and preached peace, not only peace of the soul, but peace among nations. That was during the first century, as we count time, and peace has not come to mankind despite His preaching and the enormous following that He developed.

And that is most interesting: men say that they believe, but usually they do not trouble to know what they believe. And so millions call themselves Christians but they do not believe in anything that Jesus preached or even know what He preached.

They call themselves Christians and wear a crucifix on their clothes as a mark of belonging but the two principal moral doctrines of Christianity, namely, peace on Earth and love thy neighbor as thyself, they neither attempt to understand nor to practice. And the few who do attempt to live according to the ideals of Jesus are ridiculed as, for instance, Francis of Assisi was ridiculed all his life by lesser men who held higher posts and wore more decorative costumes.

During these nearly two thousand years that men and women have followed the teachings of Jesus, there have been very few Christians upon this Earth and among those who described themselves as such there were few who either thought as He did or lived up to His preachments.

And so here we are in the year 1961 and we are again in the midst of war, wasting our produce and our earnings on war, on meaningless, purposeless war. Here we are hating as human beings have never hated before.

President Sides With McNamara's "Deterrent"

By Joseph Alsop

Certain leading members of his personal staff, notably his chief scientist, Dr. Jerome Weisner, were advocating what is called a "minimum deterrent," whereas Secretary McNamara took a quite different view.

The "minimum deterrent" is not so weak or small, to be sure. To deter at all, it must comprise enough nuclear weapons, well enough dug in and "hardened," so that a massive counter-strike can be launched after the enemy's first nuclear strike has been absorbed. The minimum deterrent is only "minimum," in fact, because the thing to be deterred is as limited as possible.

The sole aim, in other words, is to deter the enemy from launching a nuclear first strike. This limited aim makes sense if you accept the doctrine publicly proclaimed by President Eisenhower, and enshrined in the Eisenhower-era secret planning papers — the doctrine that this country will never launch a nuclear first strike in any circumstances. There are also other arguments for a minimum deterrent, such as the risks involved in an acceleration of the arms race.

Secretary McNamara had not been convinced by these arguments, however. He had instead adopted a design for what might be called a specialized deterrent. The design was based, to begin with, on current estimates of the Soviets' existing nuclear striking power, plus forward estimates of the additional striking power the Soviets will acquire by their greatly increased defense program.

The existing and anticipated Soviet long and medium range rocket emplacements and the relatively small Soviet long range bomber force were considered as one target system. The highly accurate Minuteman missile was classified as the primary weapon for use against this particularly difficult system of pinpoint targets. But secondary use of the Polaris missile was also decided upon, although the Polaris's submarine-firing platform makes it a less accurate weapon than Minuteman.

A large additional allowance of Polaris missiles was then made, for use, if need be, against the urban-industrial and other classic targets of old-style strategic bombing. The same role was assigned to the reduced number of long range bombers that will be left in service after missile striking-power has greatly increased.

Room was also left to decide, later on, whether urban-industrial targets should be attacked simultaneously with the targets presented by the enemy's nuclear force, or whether this kind of strike-capability should be held in reserve. This aspect of the new deterrent-design has given rise to the recent report that, even in the event of all-out nuclear war, Soviet urban-industrial centers will be left untouched. The truth is that the question remains open.

The specialized deterrent thus designed by Secretary McNamara required a lot more nuclear striking power than the minimum deterrent, but a lot less than the 2,300 Minutemen originally demanded by the Air Force. To be specific, McNamara spoke up for an increase of the Minuteman program to provide 800 missiles, and an increased in the Polaris program to provide 41 Polaris submarines, each carrying sixteen missiles.

According to the McNamara design, these basic weapons were to be in place by the end of 1965, of course together with the already built or scheduled Atlas and Titan long-range, liquid-fueled missiles, plus the bomber units of the Strategic Air Command not destined to be phased out. Provision was also made for a further step-up of the Minuteman program to provide 1,200 of these missiles, in case this seemed to be required by later developments.

The final White House debate about the minimum deterrent vs. the McNamara deterrent is said to have been protracted, and to have evoked several viewpoints. The President's military advisor, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, for instance, is not a supporter of the minimum deterrent theory. Yet Gen. Taylor apparently considered that the McNamara defense budget of close to $53 billion allocated too little to conventional forces in proportion to nuclear forces.

In the end, according to report, the President closed the argument with the quiet statement, "I agree with the Secretary of Defense." The far-reaching implications of this decision will be examined in a final report in this series.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

'MEAT AX JOHN' — Rep. John Taber, 81-year-old Republican from Central New York, founded his political career on the issue of economy 40 years ago and never veered from course during his four decades in the House of Representatives.

He, perhaps more than any other Republican in Congress in modern times, has held down government spending, whether it be during Republican or Democratic control of the executive branch of government.

Taber, long known as "Meat Ax John," has announced that he will not seek re-election to the House next year. He'll be missed by liberals as well as conservatives who found him to be sincere and a square shooter beneath a rough exterior.

Taber spoke in a loud, grating monotone that gave his budget-cutting speeches a singularly accusative quality, as though he was imputing sinister motives to those in government who would squander the national substance.

Because of his voice and his unwavering stand on budget cutting, he was to Capitol Hill newcomers a formidable and dour man. However, after some years of acquaintanceship, his colleagues and selected members of the administration and the Washington press corps invariably discovered that he had a fine sense of humanity, of humor and of the realities of politics.

Usually, a representative who fights for economy in government has a constituency of better than average income, whose tax dollars he tries to save in order to garner votes for the next election. Taber's district was just the opposite. It suffered from chronic unemployment, emigration of industries and a greater than average need for federal assistance.

This never stopped Taber from fighting for what he believed was right. Many, many times Taber led fights against federal outlays that would have assisted his own hard-pressed constituents and made him more popular. And never in recent years was he without political opposition in his re-election campaigns.

Taber, and the kind of legislator he symbolized, will be sorely missed in Congress and in the country.

Miss Julie

By John Crosby

From time to time, I like to check up on Julie Harris, one of the few fixed stars in the theater, a woman (although I find it difficult not to think of her as a girl) who has a deeply devoted following. There aren't many of those left.

It's been a banner year all right for the actress. She has played a priest's mistress (mother of his child, of all things) in Graham Greene's "Power and the Glory" on television, playing it, I thought, with a bit too much of an Irish brogue, considering the girl was supposed to be an Indian from Central America; she's been Queen Victoria, going from young British girlhood to old, old, old age in "Victoria Regina"; and she's packing them in (despite rather mixed notices) in the Marcel Achard-Harry Kurnitz play, "Shot in the Dark," in which she plays a frightfully amoral and frisky French girl. She's been, in short, awfully international.

"When I knew I was going to do this play, I wanted to be different than I had ever been before. A part should not be just a reflection of yourself but what the character is supposed to be. I've always loved the way Brigitte Bardot wore her hair. It looks as if she just got out of bed. I collected a lot of pictures of her and then went to a hairdresser and said, 'Make me look like that.' He did his best," she said. Actually, she doesn't really look like Brigitte Bardot but she looks awfully French, the waist-length hair caught up in dripping side bangs.

The last time I looked in on Miss Harris, she was playing Joan of Arc in "The Lark." How did she like playing in a very fast, very French farce?

"I love doing this play. I find a comedy like this, when it's so well constructed, exhilarating. The mystery makes it exciting. 'What's going to happen now?' 'Who did it?' Although the play is based on an actual case, you don't get the feeling you're reading it in a newspaper. There is something terribly human about it, something terribly real, and a kind of sadness along with the fun."

Miss Harris played opposite one of her idols, Sir Laurence Olivier, in "The Power and the Glory." "I've always felt all his work was so dedicated, so beautiful. Life gets to be gray and you forget the sources of your inspiration so easily. But when I see him on the stage, I always say to myself: 'Oh, yes, that's why we're all alive — so we will be able to see that.' His performances always remind me of the wonder of man." It's a very knowing, very perceptive critique of Olivier.

She fell to discussing her current role, which is about as far as you can get from Joan of Arc. "Playing a naughty girl isn't new to me, you know. Sally in 'I Am a Camera' was pretty outrageous. But I have noticed a difference between the audiences of a few years ago and today. Sometimes in 'I Am a Camera,' I used to say things that would cause the audience to gasp; especially during matinees I'd get shocked reactions. In this play I just don't feel that. Audiences don't seem to shock as easily. I must say there are a few things I say at the end of 'A Shot in the Dark' which make me feel very naughty!"

The discussion switched to Queen Victoria: "Victoria was such a difficult person to get to know because she was so many different things. Whatever part you play, you have to find the human qualities, the characteristics that make them act the way they do. I read a great deal about her. This didn't help me play her but it did help to make me understand her.

"It is difficult to say which is more difficult to play — a queen or a lady of easy virtue. An actor has, you might say, almost the same training a queen has. He has to train his voice, train his body, how he holds himself. I've always studied dance along with acting. The only thing I wasn't trained in was how to converse the way Victoria was. The part I play now in 'Shot in the Dark,' on the other hand, is the opposite of everything Victoria was."

With all the diversity of her plays, I didn't recall ever seeing her in Shakespeare in New York. "Oh, yes," she said. "I played the third witch in 'Macbeth' with Michael Redgrave here in New York many years ago. I think one needs a strong director before one attempts Shakespeare. I just can't see myself floundering around in it."

Teeth Weren't Made For Cracking Nutshells

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Dentists shudder when they think of the silly things people do at this time of the year. Teeth were made for biting and chewing but not to substitute for nutcrackers or bottle openers.

Never use the teeth to crack hard shelled nuts such as walnuts or pecans because you may crack a molar or jar loose a filling. A nutcracker or even an ordinary hammer does a better job.

The dumbest trick of all is to pry off a bottle cap with the teeth. Persons who try it usually are a bit high and want to be the life of the party. But they really are the prize goofs because they end up with chipped or broken teeth. A new bottle opener can be bought but only one permanent set of choppers is allotted to each man.

Don't use the teeth to cut string or ribbons from Christmas gifts. The edge of the enamel is scratched or cut easily by biting string or thread. Keep scissors handy; they do a quicker and safer job.

Many persons have the habit of biting on the pen when preparing holiday greetings ards. This practice represents a carry over from school days when pencil nibbling was common.

Save those teeth for the good food that so many families consume over the holidays. The children can have their sweets and eat them too if the teeth are brushed or the mouth is rinsed with water shortly thereafter. This is a nuisance but could develop into a health habit if encouraged.

HEAVY DRINKERS

M. S. writes: Friends of mine in the fifties drink three to four fifths of liquor a week. Their attitude is "We all have to die sometime." Please comment.
REPLY

A poor excuse is better than none but they are missing the boat if they mean what they say. The last third of life can be the most enjoyable of all but not when it is spent in a stupor.

MINOR BLACKOUTS

W. J. writes: Are there cases of petit mal in which the person does not lose consciousness but slows down momentarily? If he is speaking, for example, he slows down and has to make an effort to continue?
REPLY

Yes — this is characteristic of this type of epilepsy. The majority lose consciousness for a second or two but this may not be apparent to the onlooker.

NECK LUMP

F. T. writes: My 14-year-old son has a soft lump midway between his chin and throat. It moves toward the throat when he swallows. Is this serious?
REPLY

Some lumps in the area are serious whereas others are not. This may be his Adam's apple or one of the cysts that sometimes grow from the lower part of the throat. This boy needs to be examined.

NASAL CONGESTION

T. V. writes: I have an awful lot of trouble with sneezing and a stopped up nose but it's not a cold. Could this be due to nervousness?
REPLY

Yes—or allergy. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on allergic rhinitis.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The Rev. Andrew Poole tells about a fellow clergyman who was invited to a child's fashionable birthday party. Arriving tardily, he heard sounds of jollity in the rumpus room, and told the maid, "Don't announce me. I'm going to surprise them." He thereupon dropped to his hands and knees and crawled into the rumpus room, barking like a dog.

Looking up, he found six adults staring at him incredulously.

He had come to the wrong house.

Administration's Attack On Recession Listed Among W.Va. Top Stories Of '61

Editor's Note: Following is the second of five dispatches reviewing West Virginia's Top Ten news stories of 1961, the year in government and politics, business and industry, the lighter side of the news, and sports.

By CARLO J. SALZANO

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Legislature joined hands with Gov. W. W. Barron and took some old bugaboos by the horns to come up with what observers on both sides of the political fence agreed were the year's most productive development in the state.

Lawmakers usually squeamish about voting for any sort of taxation took the cue from the newly - elected Democratic governor and pushed through a hike in the consumer sales tax within days after they convened last January.

By the time the 60-day session was over, the Democratic - controlled Legislature had raised the consumer sales and two other taxes, realigned West Virginia's congressional districts, gave university status to Marshall College and put that hot liquor-by-the-drink question before the voters for the 1962 general election. The new levies came to about $30 million.

New Agency Activated

Among other legislative "accomplishments" was creation of a new Commerce Department to help boost West Virginia's economy which, at the time, was at the bottom of the financial curve. The income levy, based on a percentage of what a person paid in federal income tax, was enacted to finance an expanded welfare and public works program.

The consumer sales tax was raised from 2 per cent to 3-cents-on-the-dollar in January on a "temporary" basis through last August but a special session in July extended the higher levy through the 1961-62 fiscal year to provide money for more medical care for the aged. It now appears it will be extended again to maintain welfare services at their present levels.

The perennial liquor-by-the-drink question came up again but this time, the Legislature approved a constitutional amendment to legalize over-the-bar sales on a local option basis.

Barron credited the Legislature for much of what he considered the success of his first year in office. "There have been very few sessions in the past to equal the statesman-like performance of public duty exhibited by members of the 55th Legislature," he said.

Besides creating the new Department of Commerce, of which Hulett C. Smith later was named commissioner, the Legislature changed the name of the old Conservation Commission to the Natural Resources Department and brought under it some other agencies like the State Water Resources Commission.

Many Old Hands

The change in administration from that of Republican Gov. Cecil H. Underwood produced new department heads but many of them were familiar to statehouse veterans. Many were assistants to Barron when he was state attorney general.

An old hand coming back to work for Barron was W. E. Burchett who took over from Hazen Fair as superintendent of State Police.

A Republican appointee of Underwood remained on the scene. Warden M. Lane, head of the old Conservation Commission, was named by Barron to direct the new Natural Resources Department.

Barron made several tours of West Virginia's depressed areas shortly after he took office. One aftermath of the trips was the establishment of his "clean-up" campaign. The governor made the program one of his pets and soon had various cities and counties competing as to which area was making the most noticeable improvements against eye-sores, etc.

The governor, describing his first year in office, said the "tide of recession" had been turned. However, unemployment continued to plague the state's economy and the governor spent most of this month working on plans to be presented to the 1962 Legislature to improve the jobless situation.

The new Democratic administrations becoming active in both Charleston and Washington put Republicans pretty much in the background. The main exception was Rep. Arch A. Moore, the state's only GOP congressman who, under the redistricting bill passed in March will face veteran Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey in the revamped 1st District next year.

Both parties tightened battle lines for the 1962 elections by naming new state chairmen—Robert P. McDonough of Parkersburg for the Democrats, and Howard V. Corcoran of Wheeling for the Republicans.

Frostburg Child Dies After Taking Poison

The victim was Tina Marie Lewis, daughter of John and Ellen Welsh Huff Lewis, Consolidated Village.

Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, deputy county medical examiner, confirmed the cause of death after performing an autopsy.

He said she died of pulmonary hemorrhage caused by poisoning.

The child succumbed several hours after being admitted to the hospital, the report stated.

Besides her parents, she is survived by half brothers and half sisters, George and Carroll Lewis; Frederick, James, Paul and John Huff, and a sister, Paula Sue Lewis.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home, Frostburg, where friends will be received from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

Tragedy seems to stalk this family. Tina Marie's half-brother, John Huff, six, was severely burned on Sunday, August 6, when his clothing caught fire.

He and some friends built a fire, but it would not ignite. They threw a can of gasoline on it, and in doing so, some of it got on John's clothing.

When the fire ignited, his clothes also went up in flames. The burns were so serious that he had to be hospitalized until about six weeks ago, and during that time underwent numerous skin grafts. John is a first grader at Beall Elementary School.

Services will be conducted in the funeral home Sunday at 2 p. m. by Rev. George W. Hattenfield, pastor of Eckhart Baptist Church. Interment will be in Frostburg Memorial Park.

CHRISTMAS "LIQUOR" GIFTS
On the day after Christmas,
And not at all strange,
Are the crowds flocking in
With their gifts to exchange.
Their socks are too large;
Their ties are too bright;
Their slippers are wrong;
Their shirts aren't right.
They have too many pencils;
Their books they have read,
Or have two of a kind
And wish something instead.
Now I have no gripe,
For I make a good living
From people who give
And keep giving and giving.
But if you are anxious
And eager to learn
How to give and be sure
Your gifts won't return.
For what it is worth –
The suggestion is mine,
Nobody brings back

Administration's Attack On Recession Listed Among W.Va. Top Stories Of '61

Editor's Note: Following is the second of five dispatches reviewing West Virginia's Top Ten news stories of 1961, the year in government and politics, business and industry, the lighter side of the news, and sports.

By CARLO J. SALZANO

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Legislature joined hands with Gov. W. W. Barron and took some old bugaboos by the horns to come up with what observers on both sides of the political fence agreed were the year's most productive development in the state.

Lawmakers usually squeamish about voting for any sort of taxation took the cue from the newly-elected Democratic governor and pushed through a hike in the consumer sales tax within days after they convened last January.

By the time the 60-day session was over, the Democratic-controlled Legislature had raised the consumer sales and two other taxes, realigned West Virginia's congressional districts, gave university status to Marshall College and put that hot liquor-by-the-drink question before the voters for the 1962 general election. The new levies came to about $30 million.

New Agency Activated

Among other legislative "accomplishments" was creation of a new Commerce Department to help boost West Virginia's economy which, at the time, was at the bottom of the financial curve. The income levy, based on a percentage of what a person paid in federal income tax, was enacted to finance an expanded welfare and public works program.

The consumer sales tax was raised from 2 per cent to 3-cents-on-the-dollar in January on a "temporary" basis through last August but a special session in July extended the higher levy through the 1961-62 fiscal year to provide money for more medical care for the aged. It now appears it will be extended again to maintain welfare services at their present levels.

The perennial liquor-by-the-drink question came up again but this time, the Legislature approved a constitutional amendment to legalize over-the-bar sales on a local option basis.

Barron credited the Legislature for much of what he considered the success of his first year in office. "There have been very few sessions in the past to equal the statesman-like performance of public duty exhibited by members of the 55th Legislature," he said.

Besides creating the new Department of Commerce, of which Hulett C. Smith later was named commissioner, the Legislature changed the name of the old Conservation Commission to the Natural Resources Department and brought under it some other agencies like the State Water Resources Commission.

Many Old Hands

The change in administration from that of Republican Gov. Cecil H. Underwood produced new department heads but many of them were familiar to statehouse veterans. Many were assistants to Barron when he was state attorney general.

An old hand coming back to work for Barron was W. E. Burchett who took over from Hazen Fair as superintendent of State Police.

A Republican appointee of Underwood remained on the scene. Warden M. Lane, head of the old Conservation Commission, was named by Barron to direct the new Natural Resources Department.

Barron made several tours of West Virginia's depressed areas shortly after he took office. One aftermath of the trips was the establishment of his "clean-up" campaign. The governor made the program one of his pets and soon had various cities and counties competing as to which area was making the most noticeable improvements against eye-sores, etc.

The governor, describing his first year in office, said the "tide of recession" had been turned. However, unemployment continued to plague the state's economy and the governor spent most of this month working on plans to be presented to the 1962 Legislature to improve the jobless situation.

The new Democratic administrations becoming active in both Charleston and Washington put Republicans pretty much in the background. The main exception was Rep. Arch A. Moore, the state's only GOP congressman who, under the redistricting bill passed in March will face veteran Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey in the revamped 1st District next year.

Both parties tightened battle lines for the 1962 elections by naming new state chairmen—Robert P. McDonough of Parkersburg for the Democrats, and Howard V. Corcoran of Wheeling for the Republicans.

Frostburg Child Dies After Taking Poison

The victim was Tina Marie Lewis, daughter of John and Ellen Welsh Huff Lewis, Consolidated Village.

Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, deputy county medical examiner, confirmed the cause of death after performing an autopsy.

He said she died of pulmonary hemorrhage caused by poisoning.

The child succumbed several hours after being admitted to the hospital, the report stated.

Tragedy seems to stalk this family. Tina Marie's half-brother, John Huff, six, was severely burned on Sunday, August 6, when his clothing caught fire.

He and some friends built a fire, but it would not ignite. They threw a can of gasoline on it, and in doing so, some of it got on John's clothing.

When the fire ignited, his clothes also went up in flames. The burns were so serious that he had to be hospitalized until about six weeks ago, and during that time underwent numerous skin grafts. John is a first grader at Beall Elementary School.

CHRISTMAS "LIQUOR" GIFTS

On the day after Christmas,
And not at all strange,
Are the crowds flocking in
With their gifts to exchange.

Their socks are too large;
Their ties are too bright;
Their slippers are wrong;
Their shirts aren't right.

They have too many pencils;
Their books they have read,
Or have two of a kind
And wish something instead.

Now I have no gripe,
For I make a good living
From people who give
And keep giving and giving.

But if you are anxious
And eager to learn
How to give and be sure
Your gifts won't return.

For what it is worth –
The suggestion is mine,
Nobody brings back

LaSalle Whips Fort Hill, 70-57, For Fifth Consecutive Victory

Long, Sloan Pace Assault By Explorers

Score 54 Points For Winners In Opening City Tilt

Mike Long and Johnny Sloan scored 54 points between them as they led the LaSalle High Explorers to their fifth consecutive win, a 70-57 triumph over the Fort Hill Sentinels in the opening clash of the triangular series for the city championship before approximately 1,000 fans last night at Fort Hill.

Long poured in 30 points to pace the Explorers' attack and to up his city scoring total to 130 for an average of 26.0 per game this season. Sloan finished with 24 tallies as the two LaSalle aces accounted for almost as many points as the entire Fort Hill team.

Give Explorers Battle

Coach Jimmy Eckard's Sentinels gave the favored Explorers a battle for three periods in a ragged, helter-skelter game, but tired badly in the final quarter and Coach George Geatz's quint salted the decision away handily.

LaSalle broke a 37-37 tie midway in the third period and steadily increased its margin from that point, leading 48-45 at the close of the stanza, then outscoring Fort Hill, 22-12, in the last eight minutes.

The contest was tied seven times as a game Fort Hill team battled with everything they had to stay close to the unbeaten Explorers.

The battle started slowly with Fort Hill's Steve Johnson banging in a pivot shot after 1:40 minutes had elapsed for the first score. LaSalle quickly bounced back and with Sloan and Long hitting from the field and Joe Nolan added a brace of fouls, built up a 14-8 first period lead.

Tied At Halftime

The Geatzmen hiked the margin to 18-10 when Fort Hill came alive. With Billy Dean and Del Proudfoot finding the target the Sentinels battled back and tied the score at 18-18 on Colin Smith's drive-in shot. The game was deadlocked again at 20-20, 28-28 and the half ended with the teams tied at 30-all.

The two teams traded baskets to keep the score knotted at 33, 35 and 37 in the third quarter before Ronnie Manges put Fort Hill ahead on a foul conversion following his corner shot which deadlocked the game for the last time.

Nolan's jump shot put LaSalle back in front, 39-38, and the Explorers never trailed again.

LaSalle hit on 25 of 73 shots from the field for a .342 shooting percentage while Fort Hill connected for 23 of 70 tries, a .328 shooting mark. LaSalle converted 20 of 29 foul shots in an excellent exhibition at the free throw line and it was this ability that turned the tide in favor of the Explorers. Fort Hill hit on only 11-19 free throws.

Three Foul Out

Three players exited on personal fouls, Fort Hill's Colin Smith exiting with 2:17 left in the third period and Steve Johnson of Fort Hill and Don Harden of LaSalle leaving in the final stanza.

Ronnie Manges and Proudfoot topped the Fort Hill scorers with 13 points apiece as the Sentinels dropped their second decision in three games. The lineups:

Sally League All Set With Eight Teams

Savannah, Augusta Obtain Franchises

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI)—South Atlantic Baseball League President Sam Smith said Friday the class a circuit is "all set" for 1962 with eight teams and is looking forward to a "banner year."

Smith said the Cincinnati Reds would definitely keep their Sally League franchise in Columbia another year. This ended speculation that the Columbia franchise would be shifted to another city.

There have been two franchise shifts since the 1961 season ended. The Charleston, S.C., franchise was moved to Savannah, Ga., due to poor attendance at Charleston, and the Jacksonville, Fla., franchise was shifted to Augusta, Ga., after Jacksonville was awarded a franchise in the Class AAA International League.

Both Savannah and Augusta ar former members of the Sally League.

Five Name Managers

Smith said five clubs already have named managers for 1962 while the other three are still looking for a manager.

Ray Hathaway at Asheville, N.C., and Frank Carswell at Knoxville, Tenn., will be holdover managers from the 1961 season. New managers will be Chase Riddle at Portsmouth, Va., Les Moss at Savannah, and Ernie White at Augusta.

Smith said Columbia, Charlotte, N.C., and Greenville, S.C., have not yet named managers.

Reds Own Columbia

Smith said Asheville will work with Pittsburgh, Knoxville with Detroit, Portsmouth with St. Louis, Savannah with the Chicago White Sox, and Augusta with the New York Yankees.

Caseys Cop Three

The Knights of Columbus won three games from the Cumberland Owls Club last night in an Allegany County M 's Shuffleboard League match. Paul Stitcher and Hugh Kilroy led the Caseys with 10 points each. George Spies paced the Owls with 14 tallies.

South, North Meet Monday In Florida

Collegians Play In Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The South trimmed its blackboard session to 25 minutes Friday and then devoted an hour and a half to a brisk workout, mostly on passing, in preparation for the All-Star football game with the North in the Orange Bowl Monday night.

"It was by far the best practice we've had," said Frank Howard of Clemson, who with John Bridgers of Baylor is coaching the Rebel squad. "They're running much better — like they know what they're doing.

"And I'll tell you something else—they're showing some spirit, and that's importnat."

The North squad saved its best workout to date for a scout-sprinkled gallery on Memorial Field at Miami Beach.

"The kids have the assignments down pat," said Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State, co-coach with Dr. John Bateman of Rutgers for the Yankee squad.

"They're a fine bunch, with a lot of spirit and enthusiasm," he added.

O'Dell Will Do Lot Of Pitching, Dark Declares

Answers "Play Me Or Trade Me," Edict

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Manager Alvin Dark of the San Francisco Giants said Friday night that Billy O'Dell "will do a lot of pitching for us next season," after the lantern-jawed southpaw issued a "play me or trade me" edict.

"I think a lot of O'Dell and he definitely is a part of the ball club," Dark said. "He showed me that he really can pitch and he'll be doing plenty of it in 1962."

O'Dell said earlier Friday in Newberry, S. C., that he hoped the Giants either would let him pitch more or trade him.

"I want to be a starter," he said. "If the Giants don't let me pitch any more than last season, I hope they let me go somewhere I can."

Asked if O'Dell would be used as a starter, Dark merely stuck to his statement that O'Dell would be used a lot.

Other members of the Giants management were unreachable.

O'Dell, now 28, posted a 7-5 record last season while appearing in 46 contests. He finished strong, going the distance to win his last three verdicts. He worked a total of four complete games and all resulted in victories.

Davis Says He Weighed Both Offers

Liked Cleveland Contract Better

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP)—Ernie Davis, the Syracuse All-America halfback, said Friday he considered both the present and the future before agreeing to a professional football contract with the Cleveland Browns.

The National Football League team announced Thursday night agreement had been reached with the 215-pound winner of the Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding college football player in 1961. The contract calls for $65,000 salary over three years plus a $15,000 bonus for signing.

Davis is drilling here with the East squad for the East-West Shrine charity game in San Francisco Dec. 30.

"The Buffalo team in the American Football League offered me more money," Davis said, "but it wasn't enough to offset the other things involved."

Among the other things, Davis said, was consideration of off-season jobs and his future as a football player.

Davis, a business economics major at Syracuse, said, "I hope to learn a business during the off-season and step into a good job after eight or 10 years in the National Football League.

"A player has pride," he said "and wants to play with the best. I don't mean to knock the other league. Maybe in a couple of years it will be different."

Davis edded, "I'll sign the contract with the Browns on Tuesday or Wednesday. As a youngster, I always wanted to play with the Browns or the New York Giants. But a couple of years ago, I realized it really didn't matter which team I played with."

Los Angeles Rams' Offer For Olson Exceeded $50,000

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Rams offered in excess of $50,000 for a two-year period to Utah State tackle Merlin Olson before he accepted the National Football League club's contract, it was learned Friday night.

The Rams were forced to top $50,000 and include a guaranteed off season job before the All America tackle agreed to terms as the Denver Broncos of the rival American Football League engaged in a brisk bidding battle for his services.

The United Press International learned that the Rams started with an offer of $35,000 on a two year, no-cut contract which Denver topped in the fight for the 6-foot-5 start who was the Rams first draft choice.

The Rams then went to $47,000 which Denver raised to $50,000 and the promise of an off-season job.

NFL WINNING WAR WITH AFL, SIGNS 8 OF 9 DRAFT CHOICES

Rams Snare Olson, Of Utah State; Hadl Only Gridder Lost

NEW YORK (AP) — Capture of Ernie Davis, Syracuse's Heisman Trophy winner, and Merlin Olson, Utah State's All-America tackle, provided the coup de grace for the National Football League Friday in its talent-signing war with the New American League.

Less than 24 hours after the announcement that Davis had agreed to sign an $80,000 contract with the Cleveland Browns, the 6-foot-5, 265-pound Olsen cast his lot with the Los Angeles Rams.

They became the sixth and seventh of the AFL's eight top draft choices snatched up by the older league. The only one of these choices not already lost is Sandy Stephens, Minnesota quarterback who can't be touched until after the Rose Bowl game.

Stephens is the No. 1 pick of the New York Titans in the AFL, the second choice of the Cleveland Browns in the NFL.

Lost Only One Player

The American League has won out in only one of the tug-of-wars involving the No. 1 college picks of the two circuits. John Hadl, flashy Kansas quarterback who had been drafted by Detroit of the NFL, signed with the AFL's San Diego Chargers.

Besides Davis and Olsen, the AFL No. 1 draft choices plucked by the NFL include Bob Ferguson, two time All-America fullback from Ohio State, signed by Pittsburgh; Roman Gabriel, North Carolina State quarterback, Los Angeles Rams; Ronald Bull, Baylor halfback, Chicago Bears; Gary Collins, Maryland end, Cleveland, and Ray Jacobs, Howard Payne tackle, Dallas.

Jacobs is a double signee whose status is not fully settled. He signed with Houston of the AFL in the secret draft, which was later nullified. Afterward, he agreed to join Dallas of the NFL, and the NFL considers this final.

Grabbed Eight Choices

With these signings, the National League has succeeded in grabbing eight of its own No. 1 draft choices while losing only Hadl.

Loss of the highly publicized Davis dealt the American League its most stunning blow.

The Buffalo Bills, one of the most solidly entrenched of the AFL teams, sought Davis tooth and nail, and opened up their purses in a vain effort to get a star who would be a big box office draw in upstate New York.

The Bills reportedly offered Davis $135,000 with long range fringe benefits. Ernie decided to go with the Browns "at a financial sacrifice," an adviser said, because of the NFL's greater security and prestige.

Davis was the original pick of the Washington Redskins, who traded rights to him to Cleveland.

LaSalle Whips Fort Hill, 70-57, For Fifth Consecutive Victory

Score 54 Points For Winners In Opening City Tilt

Mike Long and Johnny Sloan scored 54 points between them as they led the LaSalle High Explorers to their fifth consecutive win, a 70-57 triumph over the Fort Hill Sentinels in the opening clash of the triangular series for the city championship before approximately 1,000 fans last night at Fort Hill.

Long poured in 30 points to pace the Explorers' attack and to up his city scoring total to 130 for an average of 26.0 per game this season. Sloan finished with 24 tallies as the two LaSalle aces accounted for almost as many points as the entire Fort Hill team.

Give Explorers Battle

Coach Jimmy Eckard's Sentinels gave the favored Explorers a battle for three periods in a ragged, helter-skelter game, but tired badly in the final quarter and Coach George Geatz's quint salted the decision away handily.

LaSalle broke a 37-37 tie midway in the third period and steadily increased its margin from that point, leading 48-45 at the close of the stanza, then outscoring Fort Hill, 22-12, in the last eight minutes.

The contest was tied seven times as a game Fort Hill team battled with everything they had to stay close to the unbeaten Explorers.

The battle started slowly with Fort Hill's Steve Johnson banging in a pivot shot after 1:40 minutes had elapsed for the first score. LaSalle quickly bounced back and with Sloan and Long hitting from the field and Joe Nolan added a brace of fouls, built up a 14-8 first period lead.

Tied At Halftime

The Geatzmen hiked the margin to 18-10 when Fort Hill came alive. With Billy Dean and Del Proudfoot finding the target the Sentinels battled back and tied the score at 18-18 on Colin Smith's drive-in shot. The game was deadlocked again at 20-20, 28-28 and the half ended with the teams tied at 30-all.

The two teams traded baskets to keep the score knotted at 33, 35 and 37 in the third quarter before Ronnie Manges put Fort Hill ahead on a foul conversion following his corner shot which deadlocked the game for the last time.

Nolan's jump shot put LaSalle back in front, 39-38, and the Explorers never trailed again.

LaSalle hit on 25 of 73 shots from the field for a .342 shooting percentage while Fort Hill connected for 23 of 70 tries, a .328 shooting mark. LaSalle converted 20 of 29 foul shots in an excellent exhibition at the free throw line and it was this ability that turned the tide in favor of the Explorers. Fort Hill hit on only 11-19 free throws.

Three Foul Out

Three players exited on personal fouls, Fort Hill's Colin Smith exiting with 2:17 left in the third period and Steve Johnson of Fort Hill and Don Harden of LaSalle leaving in the final stanza.

Ronnie Manges and Proudfoot topped the Fort Hill scorers with 13 points apiece as the Sentinels dropped their second decision in three games. The lineups:

Sally League All Set With Eight Teams

Savannah, Augusta Obtain Franchises

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI)—South Atlantic Baseball League President Sam Smith said Friday the class a circuit is "all set" for 1962 with eight teams and is looking forward to a "banner year."

Smith said the Cincinnati Reds would definitely keep their Sally League franchise in Columbia another year. This ended speculation that the Columbia franchise would be shifted to another city.

There have been two franchise shifts since the 1961 season ended. The Charleston, S.C., franchise was moved to Savannah, Ga., due to poor attendance at Charleston, and the Jacksonville, Fla., franchise was shifted to Augusta, Ga., after Jacksonville was awarded a franchise in the Class AAA International League.

Both Savannah and Augusta ar former members of the Sally League.

Five Name Managers

Smith said five clubs already have named managers for 1962 while the other three are still looking for a manager.

Ray Hathaway at Asheville, N.C., and Frank Carswell at Knoxville, Tenn., will be holdover managers from the 1961 season. New managers will be Chase Riddle at Portsmouth, Va., Les Moss at Savannah, and Ernie White at Augusta.

Smith said Columbia, Charlotte, N.C., and Greenville, S.C., have not yet named managers.

Reds Own Columbia

Smith said Asheville will work with Pittsburgh, Knoxville with Detroit, Portsmouth with St. Louis, Savannah with the Chicago White Sox, and Augusta with the New York Yankees.

Caseys Cop Three

The Knights of Columbus won three games from the Cumberland Owls Club last night in an Allegany County M 's Shuffleboard League match. Paul Stitcher and Hugh Kilroy led the Caseys with 10 points each. George Spies paced the Owls with 14 tallies.

Harp Denies Army Offer

Cornell Coach Calls Report "Ridiculous"

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tom Harp, head football coach at Cornell University, Friday was reported in line to become coach of Army but Harp called the report "ridiculous."

"I have not applied for the job, and nobody at West Point has contacted me," said Harp, at Ithaca, N. Y. "I don't know where the story started. "My immediate problem is to continue the redevelopment program at Cornell."

The report was carried by the New York World-Telegram and Sun, which said it had learned that Harp would be named Army coach "soon." Sports columnist Joe Williams, did not identify the source of the report.

A source at West Point said the report "is not correct as of right now. We are still in the stage of screening applicants."

The head football coaching job at Army has been open since early this month when Dale Hall was fired even though his contract still had another year to run.

Collegians Play In Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The South trimmed its blackboard session to 25 minutes Friday and then devoted an hour and a half to a brisk workout, mostly on passing, in preparation for the All-Star football game with the North in the Orange Bowl Monday night.

"It was by far the best practice we've had," said Frank Howard of Clemson, who with John Bridgers of Baylor is coaching the Rebel squad. "They're running much better — like they know what they're doing.

"And I'll tell you something else—they're showing some spirit, and that's important."

The North squad saved its best workout to date for a scout-sprinkled gallery on Memorial Field at Miami Beach.

"The kids have the assignments down pat," said Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State, co-coach with Dr. John Bateman of Rutgers for the Yankee squad.

"They're a fine bunch, with a lot of spirit and enthusiasm," he added.

O'Dell Will Do Lot Of Pitching, Dark Declares

Answers "Play Me Or Trade Me," Edict

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Manager Alvin Dark of the San Francisco Giants said Friday night that Billy O'Dell "will do a lot of pitching for us next season," after the lantern-jawed southpaw issued a "play me or trade me" edict.

"I think a lot of O'Dell and he definitely is a part of the ball club," Dark said. "He showed me that he really can pitch and he'll be doing plenty of it in 1962."

O'Dell said earlier Friday in Newberry, S. C., that he hoped the Giants either would let him pitch more or trade him.

"I want to be a starter," he said. "If the Giants don't let me pitch any more than last season, I hope they let me go somewhere I can."

Asked if O'Dell would be used as a starter, Dark merely stuck to his statement that O'Dell would be used a lot.

Other members of the Giants management were unreachable.

O'Dell, now 28, posted a 7-5 record last season while appearing in 46 contests. He finished strong, going the distance to win his last three verdicts. He worked a total of four complete games and all resulted in victories.

Davis Says He Weighed Both Offers

Liked Cleveland Contract Better

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP)—Ernie Davis, the Syracuse All-America halfback, said Friday he considered both the present and the future before agreeing to a professional football contract with the Cleveland Browns.

The National Football League team announced Thursday night agreement had been reached with the 215-pound winner of the Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding college football player in 1961. The contract calls for $65,000 salary over three years plus a $15,000 bonus for signing.

Davis is drilling here with the East squad for the East-West Shrine charity game in San Francisco Dec. 30.

"The Buffalo team in the American Football League offered me more money," Davis said, "but it wasn't enough to offset the other things involved."

Among the other things, Davis said, was consideration of off-season jobs and his future as a football player.

Davis, a business economics major at Syracuse, said, "I hope to learn a business during the off-season and step into a good job after eight or 10 years in the National Football League.

"A player has pride," he said "and wants to play with the best. I don't mean to knock the other league. Maybe in a couple of years it will be different."

Davis edded, "I'll sign the contract with the Browns on Tuesday or Wednesday. As a youngster, I always wanted to play with the Browns or the New York Giants. But a couple of years ago, I realized it really didn't matter which team I played with."

Los Angeles Rams' Offer For Olson Exceeded $50,000

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Rams offered in excess of $50,000 for a two-year period to Utah State tackle Merlin Olson before he accepted the National Football League club's contract, it was learned Friday night.

The Rams were forced to top $50,000 and include a guaranteed off season job before the All America tackle agreed to terms as the Denver Broncos of the rival American Football League engaged in a brisk bidding battle for his services.

The United Press International learned that the Rams started with an offer of $35,000 on a two year, no-cut contract which Denver topped in the fight for the 6-foot-5 start who was the Rams first draft choice.

The Rams then went to $47,000 which Denver raised to $50,000 and the promise of an off-season job.

NFL WINNING WAR WITH AFL, SIGNS 8 OF 9 DRAFT CHOICES

Rams Snare Olson, Of Utah State; Hadl Only Gridder Lost

NEW YORK (AP) — Capture of Ernie Davis, Syracuse's Heisman Trophy winner, and Merlin Olson, Utah State's All-America tackle, provided the coup de grace for the National Football League Friday in its talent-signing war with the New American League.

Less 'han 24 hours after the announcement that Davis had agreed to sign an $80,000 contract with the Cleveland Browns, the 6-foot-5, 265-pound Olsen cast his lot with the Los Angeles Rams.

They became the sixth and seventh of the AFL's eight top draft choices snatched up by the older league. The only one of these choices not already lost is Sandy Stephens, Minnesota quarterback who can't be touched until after the Rose Bowl game.

Stephens is the No. 1 pick of the New York Titans in the AFL, the second choice of the Cleveland Browns in the NFL.

Lost Only One Player

The American League has won out in only one of the tug-of-wars involving the No. 1 college picks of the two circuits. John Hadl, flashy Kansas quarterback who had been drafted by Detroit of the NFL, signed with the AFL's San Diego Chargers.

Besides Davis and Olsen, the AFL No. 1 draft choices plucked by the NFL include Bob Ferguson, two time All-America fullback from Ohio State, signed by Pittsburgh; Roman Gabriel, North Carolina State quarterback, Los Angeles Rams: Ronald Bull, Baylor halfback, Chicago Bears; Gary Collins, Maryland end, Cleveland, and Ray Jacobs, Howard Payne tackle, Dallas.

Jacobs is a double signee whose status is not fully settled. He signed with Houston of the AFL in the secret draft, which was later nullified. Afterward, he agreed to join Dallas of the NFL, and the NFL considers this final.

Grabbed Eight Choices

With these signings, the National League has succeeded in grabbing eight of its own No. 1 draft choices while losing only Hadl.

Loss of the highly publicized Davis dealt the American League its most stunning blow.

The Buffalo Bills, one of the most solidly entrenched of the AFL teams, sought Davis tooth and nail, and opened up their purses in a vain effort to get a star who would be a big box office draw in upstate New York.

The Bills reportedly offered Davis $135,000 with long range fringe benefits. Ernie decided to go with the Browns "at a financial sacrifice," an adviser said, because of the NFL's greater security and prestige.

Houston Is 3-Point Favorite Over San Diego In AFL Title Battle

Gilman Picks His Chargers To Triumph

Oilers Win Nine Straight; Sunday Game On Television

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Well-seasoned Sid Gillman is generally a cautious coach in forecasting the outcome of a game. So it was rather a surprise Friday to hear the pilot of the San Diego Chargers say:

"I would make this prediction: Come Sunday, these gentlemen (the Chargers) are going to be the champions of the American Football League."

Ready to dispute this, of course, are the Houston Oilers, who won the AFL championship in the Eastern-Western Division playoff from the San Diego club in Houston a year ago.

ABC To Televise Game

The game, with a 1:30 p.m. PST kickoff, will be televised nationally via the ABC network.

The Oilers were due in Friday night and Coach Wally Lemm planned a light workout Saturday.

Lemm, who took over the Oilers early this season and guided them to nine straight victories, said:

"I'm sure our game with the Chargers will be very close."

Referring to the 41-0 shellacking San Diego absorbed from the Boston Patriots last week, Lemm added:

"I wasn't especially surprised that the Chargers lost to Boston. It is hard to keep a team up after they have won the title.

"The Chargers, I am sure, can do 100 per cent better."

Collapse Is Explained

There have been several explanations for the Charger collapse against Boston.

Barron Hilton, youthful owner of the Chargers, pointed out that several players were injured early in the game and Gillman pulled them out to spare possible serious trouble.

Bill Maphis, of West Virginia University's varsity squad, who is sitting it out this season due to an ankle injury he suffered in a practice session at Morgantown, played for the Alumni and contributed 15 points.

Hubert High headed the Romney varsity scorers with 15 tallies, Terry Mezzatesta had 13, Kenny Ayers 12 and Monty Mathias 11.

The Alumni held a 26-24 edge in field goals but was outpointed at the foul line, 18 to 11.

George Blanda May Not Play Next Season

AFL Star Has Been Grid Pro 12 Years

HOUSTON (AP)—George Blanda, voted the American Football League's player of the year by The Associated Press, said Friday this may be his last year as a pro quarterback.

"I haven't signed a contract yet," Blanda said. "I may not want to play next year because it's sure nice to go out a winner."

Twelfth Year As Pro

Blanda, 33, is in his 12th pro year. He spent 10 years with the National Football League Chicago Bears, where he was a kicker instead of a passer. He had retired when Houston lured him into the AFL.

"This is a great honor," Blanda said. "But, of course, there are other players on our team that deserve it more."

The special selection board did not think so. Halfback Billy Cannon and end Charley Hennigan, both of the Eastern Division champion Oilers, gave him only slight competition.

Earl Faison, San Diego's defensive end, got rookie of the year honors.

The Chargers and the Oilers meet in San Diego Sunday for the AFL title. Faison won easily over Charley Long of Boston and Ken Rice of Buffalo. He is an Indiana product.

Earn Double Honors

Blanda's honor brought two to Houston — Coach Wally Lemm was voted coach of the year for his job in leading Houston to nine straight victories and the division title.

Blanda, who spends the off season in LaGrange Park, Ill., completed 187 passes for 3,330 yards and 36 touchdowns. He kicked 16 field goals and made 64 extra points.

"Blanda is one of the great pro quarterbacks," Lemm said. "He deserves this. He can pick a defense apart as well as any quarterback I've seen."

Colts Sign Yohn

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts of the National Football League announced Friday the signing of linebacker John Yohn, a free agent.

Yohn, 24, of Palmyra, Pa., played at Gettysburg in 1958 and for the Marine Corps during the past three seasons, at Quantico, Va., and San Diego, Calif. He is 6-feet-2 and weighs 220 pounds.

Brumel Is Honored

MOSCOW (AP)—Valery Brumel, the Soviets' 7-foot high jumper, was named Russia's male athlete of the year Friday by the magazine Moscow Sports Week, which conducted a nationwide poll.

Anna Dmitriyeva, many-time Russian tennis queen, was named the woman athlete of the year.

Allegany Cagers Host Alumni Quint Tonight

Grads Out To Break 3-Game Loss String, Oldtown In Prelim

Allegany High School's Campers will play host to the Alumni team in their annual basketball game tonight at 8 o'clock at Campobello.

Coach Charles "Whip" Kreitzburg announced last night that his Alumni squad has been holding secret drills with the hope that it will be able to shake a three-game losing streak in the annual contests.

The Alumni's last victory in the series came in 1958 and the score was 55-49. Since then the Campers have won by scores of 61-60, 52-41 and 60-48.

Gary and Wayne Shook, Mervin Pope, Bob Gaffney, Doug Luzier, Gary Frisby, Gerald Horton, Jerry Pentoney and Jack Cook are among players expected to see action with the Alumni team tonight.

Roger Flanagan, Allegany's first string guard, is not expected to see action tonight. He suffered an ankle sprain in the Piedmont game Tuesday and is not expected to play until next week.

Allegany will be playing its third game of the season. The Campers lost to Martinsburg, 66-54, and defeated Piedmont, 49-46.

Next Wednesday, Coach Chet Payne's quint plays at South Hagerstown and hosts the Keyser High School Golden Tornado Friday night.

"Pete" Elliott and "Moose" Arnone will officiate in tonight's contest.

In the opening game of the twin bill, Coach Barney Tucker's Oldtown High Schol varsity cagers will meet Allegany's Jayvees at 6:45 o'clock. Oldtown has won three of five games played to date.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sports of all sorts:

Former PGA champ Jay Hebert picks Gay Brewer, Dave Ragan and 21-year-old amateur titleholder Jack Nicklaus as the three young golf pros with the best chance to hit the jackpot in 1962.

"Nicklaus is young but he doesn't play like a youngster," says Hebert. "He is big, strong and sure likes those medal play tournaments."

Nicklaus turned pro late last fall after winning the U.S. Amateur championship for the second time in three years . . . And for three years, he has been a big threat in the U.S. Open at medal play against the world's top pros.

Anyone for basketball? . . . You can take your pick of 50 different tournaments across the nation during the upcoming holiday season . . . Coaches like 'em because it keeps the kids in training, not celebrating.

Reflects Poor Passing

Three Ivy League football teams, led by Pennsylvania, were among the five top teams in the nation on pass defense in 1961 . . . We prefer to think that reflects poorer Ivy League passing rather than better Ivy League defense . . . Hardly seems likely Ivy defenders would be quite as good as the statistics would have you believe.

Syracuse footballers had only one unanimous selection on their all-opponent team this year—Bill (Thunder) Thornton of Nebraska . . . Thornton also was named top individual and top back to play the Orange this year.

Boston Red Sox plan to hustle up interest for '62 with a "Red Sox" caravan through 17 New England cities Jan. 16-Feb. 1 . . . Official and players, including Don Schwall, Bill Monbouquette, Frank Malzone, Chuck Schilling, Tracy Stallard and Carl Yastrzemski, will hit the road for a series of lunches and dinners by service clubs, sports units, etc.

Historians looking up items about Madison Square Garden's Holiday Festival basketball tournament discovered big Frank Howard, now a slugger with the Los Angeles Dodgers, holds a couple of festival records . . . Howard, while playing for Ohio State in the '56 tournament, had 32 rebounds in one game and 77 for three games—both records.

Raleigh Becomes Washington Farm

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators completed their farm system for 1962 today by signing a full working agreement with Raleigh, N.C., of the Class B Carolina League.

The American League team is committed to provide a full roster of players for Raleigh which becomes the Senators' fourth farm club.

A Washington spokesman said the Senators now own 71 minor league players and needed an intermediate level team between their two Class D teams, Middlesboro, Ky., of the Appalachian League and Pensacola, Fla., of the Alabama-Florida League, and Syracuse, N.Y., of the Class AA International League.

Mantle Heads AL Sluggers, Led In Walks

Wood Whiffs Most, 35 Records Fall

BOSTON (UPI)—Who hurt the pitchers more—Mickey Mantle or Roger Maris?

The answer is Mantle, and he hurt them far more than his New York Yankee teammate, according to official slugging averages for 1961 which were released by American League headquarters Thursday.

Mantle won the slugging championship with .687, collecting 353 total bases in 514 official times at bat.

35 Records Broken

Despite his 61 home runs, Maris wound up fourth in slugging with .620. He had 366 total bases but went to bat 590 official times.

Mantle had 87 singles, 16 doubles, six triples and 54 homers; in addition to his 61 homers, Maris had 78 singles, 16 doubles and four triples. Mantle batted .317 and Maris .269.

Norm Cash, the Detroit first baseman who led the league in batting with .361, was second in slugging with .662, and big Jim Gnetile of Baltimore was third with .646. Then came Maris and Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew with .606.

Mickey Drew 126 Walks

Mantle, who finished second to Maris in slugging during the 1960 season, drew the most bases on balls, 126. Cash was close behind with 124, and also drew the most intentional passes, 19. Maris collected 94 bases on balls.

The league's strikeout leader was rookie Jake Wood of the Tigers, who fanned 141 times. For the 10th time in his career, Minnie Minoso, recently traded by the White Sox to the Cardinals, was hit by the most pitches, 10. Gene Green of Washington hit into the most double plays, 26.

Maris Is Fourth

A total of 35 major league records were broken in the American League last season. Maris' 61 homers in 162 games was the big one, of course, and that record helped the Yankees set another one by winning the 26th pennant in their history.

Winner Is Promised Fight With Fullmer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The winner of the middleweight bout between Florentino Fernandez and Dick Tiger Jan. 20 will be in line to meet champion Gene Fullmer, promoter Chris Dundee said Friday.

Yanks' Hurler Is Janitor At State Capitol

Bridges Expected To Bolster Bullpen

By CLIFF SESSIONS

Not A Bad Job

But, putting his broom aside, the rugged 180-pounder commented, "this is not a bad job as far as temporary jobs go. I might could find something better somewhere else, but Jackson is my hometown and I want to stay here. Home has never been nowhere but here for." Bridges, the father of three is buying a home here.

His first break in baseball occurred here when, as a teen-ager, he got a job cleaning the club house of the Jackson Senators of the now-defunct Class B Southeastern League. The team managed by ex-big league pitcher Willis Hudlin, noticed the youngster tossing balls around the club house with his co-workers and passed along a few tips that increased Bridges' ability and interest. "And I learned a lot hanging around those players," says Bridges.

When he was 16, Bridges got a job at the capitol and, on the weekends, played semi-pro baseball. Four years later he turned pro, joining a Memphis, Tenn. Negro team. He hit the big leagues in 1959 as a St. Louis Cardinal and a year later went with Cincinnati.

Because of shoulder trouble, Bridges said, he spent most of last season with the Reds' International League farm club at Jersey City where he won 6 and lost 8, but he was called up by Cincinnati during the successful pennant drive.

The Yankees, who have become adept at getting so-so moundsmen and turning them into ace relievers, grew interested in Bridges and made several attempts to buy him. Earlier this month they traded catcher Jesse Gonder for him.

Well, I'll Be Dog

"Well, I'll be dog," Bridges exclaimed in happy surprise when he learned of the trade. Later he said he figures "any player would like to be traded to the Yankees."

The Yanks have him pegged as a very hard worker with a good fast ball and slider, and general manager Roy Hamey says he's hoping Bridges will bolster the New York bullpen next season.

Ralston Interviewed For Nebraska Post

The Utah State coach left for Logan, Utah, after the interview. The past season Ralston guided Utah State to a 9-0-1 season before bowing to Baylor 24-9 in the Gotham Bowl. The only regular-season blemish on Utah State's record was a 6-6 tie with Wyoming.

Dye said, "I have interviewed about five head coaches and I have now talked to all who were on my original list. All of them have been men with successful head coaching experience.

Talent In Shriners Game Valued At Multi-Million

Will Raise Quarter Million Dollars For Crippled Children

By HAL WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The best judges of football talent have to be the men who scout for the professional grid teams.

They must come out in a tie, because every year the players in the Shrine game may not always be rated all-Americans, but they go high in the pro football draft lists.

Take a look at the multi-million dollar talent that will be performing for the Shriners in their goal to raise another quarter-million dollars for the crippled childrens hospital:

For The East:

Ernie Davis, Syracuse — Everybody's All-America. Draft rights owned by the Cleveland Browns and the Buffalo Bills. Davis is undecided which way he'll go.

Bob Ferguson, Ohio State—Another near - perfect all - America. Drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers of the NFL and the San Diego chargers of the AFL. Signed by the Steelers.

Gary Collins, Maryland — another true all-American. Drafted by Cleveland and Boston Titans. Signed by Browns.

Irvin Goode, Kentucky—A center so good he was drafted by the Dallas Texans of the AFL and the St. Louis cards of the NFL. Reported unsigned.

Ron Miller, Wisconsin—A "redshirt" quarterback who was signed by Los Angeles.

For The West:

Mel Melin, Washington State — drafted by New York Titans.

Ronnie Bull, Baylor — Drafted by Chicago Bears and Dallas Texans, signed by Bears.

Merlin Olsen, Utah State — All-American tackle drafted by Rams and Denver Broncos and signed by Los Angeles.

Clark Miller—Drafted by San Francisco and Oakland and signed by the Forty Niners.

John Meyers, Washington — Drafted by Los Angeles and Oakland.

Oscar Donahue, San Jose State —Drafted by Green Bay and Oakland and expected to sign with the Packers.

Oilers Win Nine Straight; Sunday Game On Television

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Well-seasoned Sid Gillman is generally a cautious coach in forecasting the outcome of a game. So it was rather a surprise Friday to hear the pilot of the San Diego Chargers say:

"I would make this prediction: Come Sunday, these gentlemen (the Chargers) are going to be the champions of the American Football League."

Ready to dispute this, of course, are the Houston Oilers, who won the AFL championship in the Eastern-Western Division playoff from the San Diego club in Houston a year ago.

ABC To Televise Game

The game, with a 1:30 p.m. PST kickoff, will be televised nationally via the ABC network.

The Oilers were due in Friday night and Coach Wally Lemm planned a light workout Saturday.

Lemm, who took over the Oilers early this season and guided them to nine straight victories, said:

"I'm sure our game with the Chargers will be very close."

Referring to the 41-0 shellacking San Diego absorbed from the Boston Patriots last week, Lemm added:

"I wasn't especially surprised that the Chargers lost to Boston. It is hard to keep a team up after they have won the title.

"The Chargers, I am sure, can do 100 per cent better."

Collapse Is Explained

There have been several explanations for the Charger collapse against Boston.

Barron Hilton, youthful owner of the Chargers, pointed out that several players were injured early in the game and Gillman pulled them out to spare possible serious trouble.

George Blanda May Not Play Next Season

AFL Star Has Been Grid Pro 12 Years

HOUSTON (AP)—George Blanda, voted the American Football League's player of the year by The Associated Press, said Friday this may be his last year as a pro quarterback.

"I haven't signed a contract yet," Blanda said. "I may not want to play next year because it's sure nice to go out a winner."

Twelfth Year As Pro

Blanda, 33, is in his 12th pro year. He spent 10 years with the National Football League Chicago Bears, where he was a kicker instead of a passer. He had retired when Houston lured him into the AFL.

"This is a great honor," Blanda said. "But, of course, there are other players on our team that deserve it more."

The special selection board did not think so. Halfback Billy Cannon and end Charley Hennigan, both of the Eastern Division champion Oilers, gave him only slight competition.

The Chargers and the Oilers meet in San Diego Sunday for the AFL title. Faison won easily over Charley Long of Boston and Ken Rice of Buffalo. He is an Indiana product.

Earn Double Honors

Blanda's honor brought two to Houston — Coach Wally Lemm was voted coach of the year for his job in leading Houston to nine straight victories and the division title.

Blanda, who spends the off season in LaGrange Park, Ill., completed 187 passes for 3,330 yards and 36 touchdowns. He kicked 16 field goals and made 64 extra points.

"Blanda is one of the great pro quarterbacks," Lemm said. "He deserves this. He can pick a defense apart as well as any quarterback I've seen."

Colts Sign Yohn

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts of the National Football League announced Friday the signing of linebacker John Yohn, a free agent.

Yohn, 24, of Palmyra, Pa., played at Gettysburg in 1958 and for the Marine Corps during the past three seasons, at Quantico, Va., and San Diego, Calif. He is 6-feet-2 and weighs 220 pounds.

Brumel Is Honored

MOSCOW (AP)—Valery Brumel, the Soviets' 7-foot high jumper, was named Russia's male athlete of the year Friday by the magazine Moscow Sports Week, which conducted a nationwide poll.

Anna Dmitriyeva, many-time Russian tennis queen, was named the woman athlete of the year.

Grads Out To Break 3-Game Loss String, Oldtown In Prelim

Allegany High School's Campers will play host to the Alumni team in their annual basketball game tonight at 8 o'clock at Campobello.

Coach Charles "Whip" Kreitzburg announced last night that his Alumni squad has been holding secret drills with the hope that it will be able to shake a three-game losing streak in the annual contests.

The Alumni's last victory in the series came in 1958 and the score was 55-49. Since then the Campers have won by scores of 61-60, 52-41 and 60-48.

Gary and Wayne Shook, Mervin Pope, Bob Gaffney, Doug Luzier, Gary Frisby, Gerald Horton, Jerry Pentoney and Jack Cook are among players expected to see action with the Alumni team tonight.

Roger Flanagan, Allegany's first string guard, is not expected to see action tonight. He suffered an ankle sprain in the Piedmont game Tuesday and is not expected to play until next week.

Allegany will be playing its third game of the season. The Campers lost to Martinsburg, 66-54, and defeated Piedmont, 49-46.

Next Wednesday, Coach Chet Payne's quint plays at South Hagerstown and hosts the Keyser High School Golden Tornado Friday night.

"Pete" Elliott and "Moose" Arnone will officiate in tonight's contest.

In the opening game of the twin bill, Coach Barney Tucker's Oldtown High Schol varsity cagers will meet Allegany's Jayvees at 6:45 o'clock. Oldtown has won three of five games played to date.

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sports of all sorts:

Former PGA champ Jay Hebert picks Gay Brewer, Dave Ragan and 21-year-old amateur titleholder Jack Nicklaus as the three young golf pros with the best chance to hit the jackpot in 1962.

"Nicklaus is young but he doesn't play like a youngster," says Hebert. "He is big, strong and sure likes those medal play tournaments."

Nicklaus turned pro late last fall after winning the U.S. Amateur championship for the second time in three years . . . And for three years, he has been a big threat in the U.S. Open at medal play against the world's top pros.

Anyone for basketball? . . . You can take your pick of 50 different tournaments across the nation during the upcoming holiday season . . . Coaches like 'em because it keeps the kids in training, not celebrating.

Reflects Poor Passing

Three Ivy League football teams, led by Pennsylvania, were among the five top teams in the nation on pass defense in 1961 . . . We prefer to think that reflects poorer Ivy League passing rather than better Ivy League defense . . . Hardly seems likely Ivy defenders would be quite as good as the statistics would have you believe.

Syracuse footballers had only one unanimous selection on their all-opponent team this year—Bill (Thunder) Thornton of Nebraska . . . Thornton also was named top individual and top back to play the Orange this year.

Boston Red Sox plan to hustle up interest for '62 with a "Red Sox" caravan through 17 New England cities Jan. 16-Feb. 1 . . . Official and players, including Don Schwall, Bill Monbouquette, Frank Malzone, Chuck Schilling, Tracy Stallard and Carl Yastrzemski, will hit the road for a series of lunches and dinners by service clubs, sports units, etc.

Players To Bowl

Mixed sports: Major league baseball players will compete in their own bowling tournament at Tampa, Fla., in March, and pro footballers have a National League golf tournament at Hollywood Beach, Fla., Jan. 3-5.

Historians looking up items about Madison Square Garden's Holiday Festival basketball tournament discovered big Frank Howard, now a slugger with the Los Angeles Dodgers, holds a couple of festival records . . . Howard, while playing for Ohio State in the '56 tournament, had 32 rebounds in one game and 77 for three games—both records.

Mississippi, matched against Texas in the Cotton Bowl, has a string of five straight post-season victories going . . . Also a string of four in a row over teams from St. Louis.

Raleigh Becomes Washington Farm

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators completed their farm system for 1962 today by signing a full working agreement with Raleigh, N.C., of the Class B Carolina League.

The American League team is committed to provide a full roster of players for Raleigh which becomes the Senators' fourth farm club.

A Washington spokesman said the Senators now own 71 minor league players and needed an intermediate level team between their two Class D teams, Middlesboro, Ky., of the Appalachian League and Pensacola, Fla., of the Alabama-Florida League, and Syracuse, N.Y., of the Class AA International League.

Mantle Heads AL Sluggers, Led In Walks

Wood Whiffs Most, 35 Records Fall

BOSTON (UPI)—Who hurt the pitchers more—Mickey Mantle or Roger Maris?

The answer is Mantle, and he hurt them far more than his New York Yankee teammate, according to official slugging averages for 1961 which were released by American League headquarters Thursday.

Mantle won the slugging championship with .687, collecting 353 total bases in 514 official times at bat.

35 Records Broken

Despite his 61 home runs, Maris wound up fourth in slugging with .620. He had 366 total bases but went to bat 590 official times.

Mantle had 87 singles, 16 doubles, six triples and 54 homers; in addition to his 61 homers, Maris had 78 singles, 16 doubles and four triples. Mantle batted .317 and Maris .269.

Norm Cash, the Detroit first baseman who led the league in batting with .361, was second in slugging with .662, and big Jim Gnetile of Baltimore was third with .646. Then came Maris and Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew with .606.

Mickey Drew 126 Walks

Mantle, who finished second to Maris in slugging during the 1960 season, drew the most bases on balls, 126. Cash was close behind with 124, and also drew the most intentional passes, 19. Maris collected 94 bases on balls.

The league's strikeout leader was rookie Jake Wood of the Tigers, who fanned 141 times. For the 10th time in his career, Minnie Minoso, recently traded by the White Sox to the Cardinals, was hit by the most pitches, 10. Gene Green of Washington hit into the most double plays, 26.

Maris Is Fourth

A total of 35 major league records were broken in the American League last season. Maris' 61 homers in 162 games was the big one, of course, and that record helped the Yankees set another one by winning the 26th pennant in their history.

Winner Is Promised Fight With Fullmer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The winner of the middleweight bout between Florentino Fernandez and Dick Tiger Jan. 20 will be in line to meet champion Gene Fullmer, promoter Chris Dundee said Friday.

Yanks' Hurler Is Janitor At State Capitol

By CLIFF SESSIONS

Bridges, 30, also is considered a pretty good left-handed major league relief pitcher. He was recently acquired by the New York Yankees.

For 10 years now, Bridges has been packing his bags every February ahd heading for baseball training camps. He returns each fall and spends most off-season months in his capitol job.

Duriing a good week at the capitol, Bridges' salary and tips will total $50—roughly 15 per cent of his weekly baseball earnings.

Not A Bad Job

Bu., putting his broom aside, the rugged 180-pounder commented, "this is not a bad job as far as temporary jobs go. I might could find something better somewhere else, but Jackson is my hometown and I want to stay here. Home has never been nowhere but here for." Bridges, the father of three is buying a home here.

His first break in baseball occurred here when, as a teen-ager, he got a job cleaning the club house of the Jackson Senators of the now-defunct Class B Southeastern League. The team managed by ex-big league pitcher Willis Hudlin, noticed the youngster tossing balls around the club house with his co-workers and passed along a few tips that increased Bridges' ability and interest. "And I learned a lot hanging around those players," says Bridges.

When he was 16, Bridges got a job at the capitol and, on the weekends, played semi-pro baseball. Four years later he turned pro, joining a Memphis, Tenn. Negro team. He hit the big leagues in 1959 as a St. Louis Cardinal and a year later went with Cincinnati.

Because of shoulder trouble, Bridges said, he spent most of last season with the Reds' International League farm club at Jersey City where he won 6 and lost 8, but he was called up by Cincinnati during the successful pennant drive.

The Yankees, who have become adept at getting so-so moundsmen and turning them into ace relievers, grew interested in Bridges and made several attempts to buy him. Earlier this month they traded catcher Jesse Gonder for him.

Well, I'll Be Dog

"Well, I'll be dog," Bridges exclaimed in happy surprise when he learned of the trade. Later he said he figures "any player would like to be traded to the Yankees."

The Yanks have him pegged as a very hard worker with a good fast ball and slider, and general manager Roy Hamey says he's hoping Bridges will bolster the New York bullpen next season.

Bridges hopes so too. But at the moment he's bolstering the Mississippi capitol's janitorial staff. His boss, House of Representatives clerk Roman Kelly, says Bridges is a "fine worker, very industrious. He does a good job."

Ralston Interviewed For Nebraska Post

Tippy Dye, former athletic director at Wichita University and recently named athletic director at Nebraska, talked with Ralston here for "a couple of hours."

The Utah State coach left for Logan, Utah, after the interview. The past season Ralston guided Utah State to a 9-0-1 season before bowing to Baylor 24-9 in the Gotham Bowl. The only regular-season blemish on Utah State's record was a 6-6 tie with Wyoming.

Dye said, "I have interviewed about five head coaches and I have now talked to all who were on my original list. All of them have been men with successful head coaching experience.

Market Registers Eighth Straight Daily Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market Friday registered its eighth straight daily decline, but a rally by rails and some other encouraging signs bolstered hope for a traditional year end rally.

Comparatively slack trading tended to remove emphasis from the retreat. Volume was 3.39 million shares compared with 3.44 million Thursday and was the smallest since Nov. 1 when 3.21 million shares changed hands.

It was the last session in which profits could be taken for 1961 tax purposes by selling "regular way" (four-day delivery). The market will be closed Monday for Christmas.

Of 1,311 issues traded, 491 advanced, and 571 declined. New highs for the year totaled 8 and new lows 14.

Eleven of the 15 most active stocks advanced while 3 declined and 1 was unchanged.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange, Volume was 1.87 million compared with 1.72 million Thursday.

Volume moved up to $6.16 million par value from $5.46 million Thursday.

Market Registers Eighth Straight Daily Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market Friday registered its eighth straight daily decline, but a rally by rails and some other encouraging signs bolstered hope for a traditional year end rally.

Comparatively slack trading tended to remove emphasis from the retreat. Volume was 3.39 million shares compared with 3.44 million Thursday and was the smallest since Nov. 1 when 3.21 million shares changed hands.

Pennsylvania Railroad advanced a full point to 17, an unusually good performance for this stock. Baltimore & Ohio advanced 1⅛ and Norfolk & Western 3⅜.

It was the last session in which profits could be taken for 1961 tax purposes by selling "regular way" (four-day delivery). The market will be closed Monday for Christmas.

The Dow Jones industrial average was up .77 at 720.87.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .20 to 259.50 with industrials up .30, rails up .40 and utilities down .70.

Of 1,311 issues traded, 491 advanced and 571 declined. New highs for the year totaled 8 and new lows 14.

Eleven of the 15 most active stocks advanced while 3 declined and 1 was unchanged.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange, Volume was 1.87 million compared with 1.72 million Thursday.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were slightly higher.

Volume moved up to $6.16 million par value from $5.46 million Thursday.

Cards of Thanks

I wish to thank my relatives and friends for the kindness shown me during the illness and bereavment of my husband, Leslie Smith, of Baltimore. Also want to thank those who sent cards and flowers; also the minister Rev. George Roberts of Barton who conducted the funeral services.
MRS. LESLIE SMITH,
Barton, Md.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Lemuel L. Combs who passed away December 23, 1960.
A precious one from us has gone
A voice we loved is still
A place is vacant in our hearts
Which never can be filled.
—His Wife and Grandchildren.

Ruling Made On Pay Claims

In the third decision by a special examiner for the Maryland Department of Employment Security in connectoin with claims for unemployment benefits by approximately 100 workers at the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company, claims have been denied for the period dating from their furlough until October 14.

The examiner, Bernard Streett, cited the facts in the case outling the work stoppage which occurred as the result of a labor dispute at the plant some months ago. The dispute started in the Extrusion Department over work load assignments, according to Streett.

He stated that from the evidence at the hearing on their idle pay claims it was concluded that the claimants are subject to disqualification because of a work stoppage.

The October 14 date is the time when the unauthorized machine interference ceased to substantially affect the employer's production.

Representing the workers in the claims were Leslie J. Clark, attorney for the Union and Melvin Sloan, vice president of the union. The company was represented by Gerald J. Kiefer, supervisor of personnel administration, and Virgil D. Eackles, assistant labor relations supervisor.

Schedule Set For Examination

The State Department of Education announced college state scholarship examinations for students residing in Allegany County will be given Saturday, February 3, at Allegany High School.

1. Senatorial.
2. Teacher training tuition for institutions other than state-supported schools which charge no tuition for teachers.
3. General state tuition (one for each senator and delegate) providing a maximum of $500 for any approved Maryland college including junior colleges. This type of scholarship is being offered for the first time.

Details concerning the scholarships will be available at public and non-public high schools in January.

County Given Cut On Insurance

Fire insurance coverage on Allegany County buildings will cost about 50 per cent less for the next three years than for the last few years.

The M. D. Reinhart Company wrote the county commissioners yesterday that the county will be due a refund on its premium for the past year under the institutional type insurance coverage.

The former cost per year was $6,289 for $1,765,000 worth of buildings while the cost for each of the next three years will be $3,166 on $1,885,000 worth of buildings. The county recently completed a structure at the County Garage property on Franklin Street to store the voting machines.

Canada's Northwest Territories covers a third the area of the United States. Yet the region has only 23,000 inhabitants.

munist Berlin will hold Christmas services starting at dusk Christmas Eve and lasting through Tuesday, final day of the traditional three-day German yule observance. Those trapped in East Berlin may this year feel the spiritual meaning of Christmas more deeply than ever, a churchman suggested.

Music will play its important role. Church and other choral groups for months have been rehearsing Christmas concerts. But the annual Christmas gathering in Berlin of Lutheran choirs from East as well as West Germany has been canceled because of border restrictions.

West Berliners, more conscious than ever this year that they are surrounded by Communist territory, feel warmly toward the 11,000 American, French and English troops spending Christmas away from home. Almost 500 soldiers will eat Christmas dinner in Berlin homes.

There were far more than 500 invitations, but many of the men must be with their own families or on duty.

Americans will be on duty at Friedrichstrasse, where U.S. tanks have been bivouacked for three months. They'll eat their Christmas dinners after getting relieved, on Christmas night.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York, is to arrive Sunday to celebrate Christmas Eve midnight Mass for American troops.

Dusk on Christmas Eve probably will be the high point of Berlin's holiday. The lighting of white electric candles in windows and on Christmas trees is followed by attendance at church and opening of packages.

The wall has brought a record mountain of packages and letters between East and West Berlin this Christmas. They are moving without interruption in both directions.

West Germans already are streaming through Wes Berlin en route to visit relatives in East Berlin or East Germany. They are not subject to the same restrictions as West Berliners, but have to get permits.

Many West Berliners are heading by car, bus, train and plane to West Germany and other European countries for the holidays. Forty extra trains were scheduled between West Berlin and West Germany in a last-minute agreement between East and West railway authorities.

Ruling Made On Pay Claims

In the third decision by a special examiner for the Maryland Department of Employment Security in connectoin with claims for unemployment benefits by approximately 100 workers at the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company, claims have been denied for the period dating from their furlough until October 14.

The examiner, Bernard Streett, cited the facts in the case outling the work stoppage which occurred as the result of a labor dispute at the plant some months ago. The dispute started in the Extrusion Department over work load assignments, according to Streett.

He stated that from the evidence at the hearing on their idle pay claims it was concluded that the claimants are subject to disqualification because of a work stoppage.

The October 14 date is the time when the unauthorized machine interference ceased to substantially affect the employer's production.

Representing the workers in the claims were Leslie J. Clark, attorney for the Union and Melvin Sloan, vice president of the union. The company was represented by Gerald J. Kiefer, supervisor of personnel administration, and Virgil D. Eackles, assistant labor relations supervisor.

Schedule Set For Examination

The State Department of Education announced college state scholarship examinations for students residing in Allegany County will be given Saturday, February 3, at Allegany High School.

The examinations will cover three types of scholarships as follows:

2. Teacher training tuition for institutions other than state-supported schools which charge no tuition for teachers.
3. General state tuition (one for each senator and delegate) providing a maximum of $500 for any approved Maryland college including junior colleges. This type of scholarship is being offered for the first time.

Details concerning the scholarships will be available at public and non-public high schools in January.

County Given Cut On Insurance

Fire insurance coverage on Allegany County buildings will cost about 50 per cent less for the next three years than for the last few years.

The M. D. Reinhart Company wrote the county commissioners yesterday that the county will be due a refund on its premium for the past year under the institutional type insurance coverage.

The former cost per year was $6,289 for $1,765,000 worth of buildings while the cost for each of the next three years will be $3,166 on $1,885,000 worth of buildings. The county recently completed a structure at the County Garage property on Franklin Street to store the voting machines.

The insurance coverage is portioned out to various companies through the Reinhart firm.

Canada's Northwest Territories covers a third the area of the United States. Yet the region has only 23,000 inhabitants.

munist Berlin will hold Christmas services starting at dusk Christmas Eve and lasting through Tuesday, final day of the traditional three-day German yule observance. Those trapped in East Berlin may this year feel the spiritual meaning of Christmas more deeply than ever, a churchman suggested.

Music will play its important role. Church and other choral groups for months have been rehearsing Christmas concerts. But the annual Christmas gathering in Berlin of Lutheran choirs from East as well as West Germany has been canceled because of border restrictions.

West Berliners, more conscious than ever this year that they are surrounded by Communist territory, feel warmly toward the 11,000 American, French and English troops spending Christmas away from home. Almost 500 soldiers will eat Christmas dinner in Berlin homes.

There were far more than 500 invitations, but many of the men must be with their own families or on duty.

Americans will be on duty at Friedrichstrasse, where U.S. tanks have been bivouacked for three months. They'll eat their Christmas dinners after getting relieved, on Christmas night.

As usual, many an American GI is dressing up as Santa Claus at parties for orphanages.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York, is to arrive Sunday to celebrate Christmas Eve midnight Mass for American troops.

Dusk on Christmas Eve probably will be the high point of Berlin's holiday. The lighting of white electric candles in windows and on Christmas trees is followed by attendance at church and opening of packages.

The wall has brought a record mountain of packages and letters between East and West Berlin this Christmas. They are moving without interruption in both directions.

West Germans already are streaming through Wes Berlin en route to visit relatives in East Berlin or East Germany. They are not subject to the same restrictions as West Berliners, but have to get permits.

Many West Berliners are heading by car, bus, train and plane to West Germany and other European countries for the holidays. Forty extra trains were scheduled between West Berlin and West Germany in a last-minute agreement between East and West railway authorities.

Plans For Work At Lake Gordon Being Studied

Includes Pumps, New Sluice Gates

He said the plans prepared by Robert T. Regester, Inc., consulting engineers of Baltimore, have been referred to City Engineer C. R. Nuzum for study and report.

Mr. Light said he will ask the Mayor and Council to authorize the Water Department to advertise for bids on the project as soon as Mr. Nuzum approves the plans.

To Be Expedited

He said the consulting engineers have advised it will take about 16 weeks to get delivery on the pumping units and that the project will have to be expedited if the pumping units are to be ready for service next summer if they are needed.

The Mayor and Council this spring authorized the Regester firm to proceed with plans for the work estimated to cost about $88,000.

The pumping station will make available a pool of water, estimated at about a 50-day supply, which cannot flow from Lake Gordon into the filter plant by gravity.

The big pumping units, along with related piping included in the project, will make it possible for the city to take the gate chamber out of service while it is repaired.

New Gates Needed

Inspection of the gate chamber by a diver in the fall of 1960 showed that the chamber was in such shape that all five valves should be replaced.

The installation of new valves will make it possible for the city to draw water from several levels of Lake Gordon and to use the bottom, or blow-off valve, to drain the silt which has been accumulating in the bottom of the lake during the past 50 years.

Funds for the contract are available, Mr. Light said.

Tall Cedars Install New Officers

Pennsylvanian Enjoys Short Stay Of Freedom

In the spirit of the Christmas season, Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt released nine prisoners from Allegany County jail Thursday with a reminder to stay off the street and not panhandle.

However one of the prisoners was out but a few hours when he was nabbed by city police on Queen City pavement for disturbing the peace and being drunk.

Carl E. "Davey" Crockett, 35, of Monessen, Pa., who had served 10 of 30 days for being drunk and loitering, was remanded to the county jail.

He collected some $13.96 during his few hours of freedom from the county lockup.

When he was sentenced to complete the 30 days in jail, Crockett was also fined $10 and $1.45 costs.

Trial Magistrate Weatherholt made it clear that since he took the money from local residents, it would be turned back to them in the form of the fine.

Three Injured Near Bedford

Three persons from different states were injured yesterday evening in a three-vehicle pile-up on U. S. Route 220 about three miles north of Bedford, Pa.

June Heisler, 30, of Yonkers, N. Y. driver of one of the cars was treated for contusions of the forehead. Max Heisler, passenger in that car was treated for lacerations and abrasions of his nose.

C. Harold Smith, 50, of Osterburg, Pa. driver of a truck, sustained lacerations of his scalp and was treated by a Claysburg physician.

Pennsylvania State Police said Smith was driving south on the highway apparently inattentive and when he came upon a vehicle in front of him he applied the brakes.

ABL Plans To Expand Phones

Message Center To Be Expanded

The number of telephones at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory will double next year when workmen of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company are expected to have the job completed.

G. Dale Weston, security and personnel department superintendent, announced this week the present number of telephones on the plant will be doubled in the near future.

At present there are 1,000 telephones and within five months, after telephone workers complete installating additional equipment, ABL'ers will have use of 2,000 telephones.

The Message Center will be expanded to house the new equipment and the present three-position switchboard will be enlarged to nine positions.

Weston said the work on the project should be underway in about two months and be completed in five months.

B & O Credit Union Largest In Maryland

Are Third Largest Lenders In County

Allgany County Credit Unions serve more of the population than any other county in the state. The county has three credit unions of 12 in the state with over $1,000,000. The largest credit union of the 165 Federal Credit Unions is located in Cumberland, the Cumberland B&O Employees Federal Credit Union, is managed by Fred B. Griffith with assets of $2,300,000.

In the economy of the county, credit unions rank as the third largest consumer lender, according to S. J. Domenick, managing director of the Maryland Credit Union League, Inc. By November 30, the credit unions in the county had loaned over $8½ million dollars in the 11 month period.

Membership in these credit unions exceeds 13,000, with total assets amounted to $5,601,000.

Credit unions are groups of people who have a common bond of association such as working together or belonging to the same association. They pool their savings, then lend to one another when the need arises, through their own organization.

There are 208 credit unions in Maryland serving over 142,000 members with assets exceeding $51 million. In the U. S. there are 20,593 credit unions, they serve 12,700,000 members with assets of $5.9 billion. The credit unions in Allegany County are:

Coal Pipeline Is Opposed By Railroad Union

Joint Council Is Established

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Delegates representing the 15,000 railroad union members in West Virginia voted here Friday to oppose a proposed coal carrying pipeline.

The delegates established a "Joint Council of Railroad Brotherhoods for the Economic Improvement of West Virginia" to carry out their opposition and named C. E. Miller, Hinton, as temporary chairman and Oscar E. Fansler, Elkins, as temporary Secretary.

A resolution said "any reduction in the valuation of railroad property or abandonment of facilities caused by the proposed pipeline would tend to reduce funds available to these bodies (West Virginia schools and government) for proper condition of service.

Recovery Cited

"Any recovery of these lost funds must come from individuals and or business not involved in the change of coal transportation methods."

The 35 delegates said they were of the opinion the proposed pipeline could not begin to match the revenue that might be lost from a decline in the railroad and coal industry.

The meeting was called by Miller, who is legislative chairman for the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Union. He invited delegates from all 23 of the railroad brotherhoods. The delegates joined the West Virginia Railroad Association in opposition to the proposed pipeline and Gov. W. W. Barron's plan to ask the Legislature to grant eminent domain rights to its builders.

In Bluefield Thursday, a Norfolk & Western Railway official argued that a proposed coal carrying pipeline could not qualify as a public utility since it would serve only one customer—electric utilities.

Howard C. Scott, N&W Pocahontas Division superintendent, made the comment in opposition to Barron's plan.

He was among officials who debated the pros and cons of the pipline in a meeting sponsored by municipal, civic and business leaders of Bluefield.

P. P. Ferretti, president of the Pocahontas Fuel Division of Consolidation Coal Co., argued the pipeline, which would carry a mixture of coal and water from northern West Virginia to East Coast markets, could prove to be the salvation of the West Virginia, coal industry.

Scott challenged the statement and said the pipeline would benefit only the big outfits like Consolidation, which proposes to build the 400-mile line in cooperation with Texas Eastern Transmission Corp.

He said many small coal companies would be forced to the brink of backruptcy and that the project would not increase coal mine employment as much as proponents claim. He said the jobs of 15,600 railroad workers in the state would be jeopardized.

Ferretti accused the railroad interests who are opposing the proposal of sefishness. He said when the railroads say workers' jobs would be threatened by loss of coal - carrying buiness they

Keep Tree Damp, Fire Chief Says

Fire Chief Virgil Parker said yesterday that 77 persons died as a result of fire during last year's three-day Christmas holiday and that most of the tragedies could have been prevented.

He said the Christmas tragedies point to the fact that special efforts should be made during the Yuletide to protect against fires.

Plans For Work At Lake Gordon Being Studied

Includes Pumps, New Sluice Gates

Plans and specifications for the construction of a low-lift pumping station at the Lake Gordon filtration plant and the rehabilitation of the Lake Gordon gate chamber have been received by Water Commissioner G. Ray Light.

He said the plans prepared by Robert T. Regester, Inc., consulting engineers of Baltimore, have been referred to City Engineer C. R. Nuzum for study and report.

Mr. Light said he will ask the Mayor and Council to authorize the Water Department to advertise for bids on the project as soon as Mr. Nuzum approves the plans.

To Be Expedited

He said the consulting engineers have advised it will take about 16 weeks to get delivery on the pumping units and that the project will have to be expedited if the pumping units are to be ready for service next summer if they are needed.

The Mayor and Council this spring authorized the Regester firm to proceed with plans for the work estimated to cost about $88,000.

The pumping station will make available a pool of water, estimated at about a 50-day supply, which cannot flow from Lake Gordon into the filter plant by gravity.

The big pumping units, along with related piping included in the project, will make it possible for the city to take the gate chamber out of service while it is repaired.

New Gates Needed

Inspection of the gate chamber by a diver in the fall of 1960 showed that the chamber was in such shape that all five valves should be replaced.

The installation of new valves will make it possible for the city to draw water from several levels of Lake Gordon and to use the bottom, or blow-off valve, to drain the silt which has been accumulating in the bottom of the lake during the past 50 years.

Funds for the contract are available, Mr. Light said.

Keep Tree Damp, Fire Chief Says

'Bonanza' Lives Long In TV Westernland

By PAUL GERARD

"Bonanza," now in its third year, came on the scene at a time when TV programming was heavily lopsided with Westerns.

For another Western to hope for any semblance of longevity at that time was unbelievable. Yet, last season "Bonanza" was placed by all rating services among TV's top shows, and this season is still going strong while many other Westerns have gone.

"'Bonanza' is more than a Western," Lorne told us.

"In most Westerns the character rides into town ,ifnds a problem and then rides out ruthless as ever. True Western Folklore is not about people who were ruthless. It's about people who were builders.

"All the stories attempt to relate the pioneer aspect of the Old West. In addition, the aftерson relationship strong in life has always been the best dramatically. Basically 'Bonanza' is a love affair between four men with the father image the predominant factor. Finally, people can and want to be identified with the father image and with peaceful pursuits rather than violence."

"Another thing that undoubtedly accounts for 'Bonanza's' continued success is the fact that we are, I'm sure the happiest set in Hollywood," Lorne confided.

Having played Shakespearean roles at the Stratford, Canada's Shakespeare Festival, Greene is a great believer in the methods and technique of the "Bard of Avon."

"Many of Shakespeare's stories were weak, but all his characters were strong men of passion and emotion set against a wife background," Lorne continued.

In "Bonanza" as Ben Cartwright, the patriarch, Lorne Greene stands out as the staunch father-ruler of "The Pondarosa" —a thousand square miles of timbered land that stretches the length of the eastern shore of Lake Tahoe—by safeguarding the romantic Little Joe (Mike Landon), directing the leader of the son Adam (Pernell Roberts) and taming the muscular Hoss (Dan Blocker).

Having heard Lorne Greens' explanation for "Bonanza's" success, a Christmas story in a TV Western has become more believable. For it was the family that built the West—not the drifter. And it is the family that has made our country great.

CHRISTMAS CHEER — The Cartwrights bring cheer to a blind orphan girl in a special Christmas episode of "Bonanza" on NBC-TV in color on Christmas Eve (9 to 10 p. m.). This is a scene from the holiday show, one of many on this week's schedule.

'Bonanza' Lives Long In TV Westernland

By PAUL GERARD

"Bonanza," now in its third year, came on the scene at a time when TV programming was heavily lopsided with Westerns.

For another Western to hope for any semblance of longevity at that time was unbelievable. Yet, last season "Bonanza" was placed by all rating services among TV's top shows, and this season is still going strong while many other Westerns have gone.

"'Bonanza' is more than a Western," Lorne told us.

"In most Westerns the character rides into town ,ifnds a problem and then rides out ruthless as ever. True Western Folklore is not about people who were ruthless. It's about people who were builders.

"All the stories attempt to relate the pioneer aspect of the Old West. In addition, the afterson relationship strong in life has always been the best dramatically. Basically 'Bonanza' is a love affair between four men with the father image the predominant factor. Finally, people can and want to be identified with the father image and with peaceful pursuits rather than violence."

"Another thing that undoubtedly accounts for 'Bonanza's' continued success is the fact that we are, I'm sure the happiest set in Hollywood," Lorne confided.

In "Bonanza" as Ben Cartwright, the patriarch, Lorne Greene stands out as the staunch father-ruler of "The Pondarosa" —a thousand square miles of timbered land that stretches the length of the eastern shore of Lake Tahoe—by safeguarding the romantic Little Joe (Mike Landon), directing the leader of the son Adam (Pernell Roberts) and taming the muscular Hoss (Dan Blocker).

Having heard Lorne Greens' explanation for "Bonanza's" success, a Christmas story in a TV Western has become more believable. For it was the family that built the West—not the drifter. And it is the family that has made our country great.

Hickman Signs For New TV Series

"Hooray for Love," a new half-hour series starring Darryl Hickman in the story of the trials and tribulations experienced by married college undergraduates living in a houseboat colony off the campus, will be presented on the ABC-TV Network in the fall of 1962.

Hickman, despite his youth, has more than a hundred motion pictures and almost as many television shows to his credit. He began his theatrical career at the age of four and has since worked on nearly all of the major film and TV studio lots.

Hickman Signs For New TV Series

"Hooray for Love," a new half-hour series starring Darryl Hickman in the story of the trials and tribulations experienced by married college undergraduates living in a houseboat colony off the campus, will be presented on the ABC-TV Network in the fall of 1962.

Hickman, despite his youth, has more than a hundred motion pictures and almost as many television shows to his credit. He began his theatrical career at the age of four and has since worked on nearly all of the major film and TV studio lots.

Recalls W. Va. Tune

When his role in a recent "Gunsmoke" episode called for a song, John Dehner came up with an authentic West Virginia mountain tune taught him as a small boy by his father, who had learned it from his father. The song's title has been lost over the years.

Barry Sullivan, of "Tall Man," observes that out of the mouths of babes come words father never should have said within their hearing!
